

Fee to Holding Firm Assailed As Excessive At Rate Probe

Service Body Counsel Thinks Operating Firm Pays Double

GEISSE ON STAND Head of Wisconsin Valley Co. Defends Present Payments

Madison—(P)—An attack upon the management fee of 2 1/2 per cent of annual gross revenues charged the Wisconsin Valley Electric company by its holding company, the Bylesby corporation, was made by Alvin C. Geisse of Madison, counsel for the Public Service commission at a rate hearing today.

With Harold L. Geisse of Wausau, president of the Wisconsin Valley concern on the witness stand for cross examination Geisse indicated that he thought the Bylesby corporation was being paid double by the operating company.

He cited the 2 1/2 per cent fee and in addition the requirement in the contract that the company pay the corporation on a per item basis for the services of its accountants, engineers, publicity department and others.

Geisse testified that the 2 1/2 per cent fee was for multitude of minor services which, it is possible, might cost the company more if it were billed separately for such services. He said that large economies in purchasing material and other assistance in operation were possible through the Bylesby corporation.

Reis inquired why it was not to the advantage of the holding company, because of its financial interest in the operating company to effect economies and provide assistance without cost. The witness replied that such services must be financed.

Merger in 1935
The Wisconsin Valley Electric was the company through which the Wisconsin Valley Power company was formed when the electric properties at Rhinelander and Antigo were purchased and consolidated in 1925.

Rate complaints against both companies, pending for sometime being heard by Antigo because Antigo also will consider tomorrow the rates of the Northern States Power company, another Bylesby concern.

The commission staff assailed what it termed a write-up of the value of the Antigo and Rhinelander properties when they were joined on the books of the Wisconsin Valley Power company. Geisse said that the increase in the valuation was the result of an appraisal in which there was a re-assignment of the values. He claimed the two consolidated companies did not reflect the true capital value in their own books.

Geisse testified that the average rate of return from residential lighting in Rhinelander was slightly higher than in Antigo because Antigo has more large users. The average return from the commercial, heating and power rates is a little less in Rhinelander than in Antigo, he said.

President to Sail Christmas Eve on Holiday Vacation.

Washington—(P)—Preparations went forward today at the White House for President Hoover to set sail from Savannah, Ga., next Saturday, Christmas eve, on a holiday cruise off the Georgia and Florida coasts.

Despite the approach of his scheduled departure from the capital, however, set for next Friday night, the president made clear to his aides that he might yet cancel the trip should developments on Capitol Hill or in his war debt plans require.

As plans now stand, the chief executive and Mrs. Hoover and a party of guests will board the government inspection boat "Sequoia" and "Kilkenny" at Savannah about noon Saturday.

For the next week or ten days, the president plans to drift along, stopping where the fish are biting best or inspecting inland waterways.

There was a prospect, although definite plans were withheld, that a stop might be made on Christmas eve at Sapelo island, less than 100 miles from Savannah. Christmas eve may be spent on the high seas, however.

Thousands Liberated On Hindenburg Order

Berlin—(P)—Thousands of persons, liberated by the amnesty law President von Hindenburg signed last night, were welcomed outside prison gates today by their Nazi, Communist or Reichsbanner comrades and were escorted like heroes to the various party headquarters where Christmas banquets will be given in their honor.

Of the 15,000 persons affected by the amnesty law those detained are rejoicing at substantial reductions in their sentences.

The government is not turning the prisoners on the streets destitute. Those arrested during the summer disorders are supplied with overcoats and heavy garments and all are given carfare home and money for their meals.

Starts Drive to Revise Germany's Private Debts

Ordered to Bed

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—Norman E. Mack, veteran of many Democratic national campaigns and a former national chairman, is ill from over exertion in the recent presidential campaign. Mr. Mack, who was 74 last July, "over-did it," an associate said today, and has been ordered to bed. He is not seriously ill.

3 Counts Dropped In Portage Trial Of Josephine Roth

Woman Still Accused of Conspiracy to Defraud And of Extortion Plot

Portage—(P)—The trial of Josephine Roth, Beloit widow, was resumed here today with the counts against the woman reduced from six to three.

Two counts charging complicity in the murder of Robert Wilson, Kenosha real estate man, and one count charging her with plotting to obtain money under false pretenses were dropped at yesterday's session. The remaining counts charge conspiracy to defraud and being accessory before and after the fact of extortion.

John F. Tyrrell, Milwaukee, and Jay F. Wood, Chicago, hand-writing experts, testified that the writing on a note for $18,000 which Wilson was forced to sign before he was slain on his farm near Lodi, Wis., was that of Mrs. Roth. The woman denied ever having seen the note, but admitted she had written checks for Frank Tylius, confessed slayer of Wilson, about a year ago.

Mrs. Roth testified that on the night of the slaying, Tylius and another man whom she did not know came to her home in Beloit, and changed of liquor. After eating and changing clothes, the men left, she said.

Judge C. F. Van Pelt refused the state permission to introduce Tylius' confession. Tylius committed suicide in jail at Wisconsin Dells.

Character witnesses who testified for Mrs. Roth yesterday were Mrs. Martha Secour, her bndsmn; Alec Secour, B. F. Master and C. R. Schuster, all of Beloit. Mrs. Secour admitted writing "Joie," that "I'll swear to anything that will help you."

Orders Extra Insurance Charges Discontinued

Madison—(P)—State Insurance Commissioner H. J. Mortensen today ordered the discontinuance of extra charges in insurance rates on property using oil burners which are not approved by Underwriters Laboratories, Inc., Chicago.

The order was issued in the complaint of the Mallow Heating company, Madison and the firm of Halverson and Ford, Stoughton. They protested an increase in the fire insurance rates on a building occupied by the Stoughton firm because an oil burner installed in the building by the Mallow company had not been approved by the Underwriters Laboratories.

Mortensen, in his order, said there was no showing or claim that the Mallow burner was any more of a fire hazard than an approved burner and that increased rates charged therefor were arbitrary and could not be collected.

Alfred Hugenberg Says It's Question of Capital Or High Interest

Berlin—(P)—Alfred Hugenberg, Nationalist leader, today fired the opening gun for revision of German private debts, urging that the interest rate on short term credits should be reduced to 1 1/2 per cent, and intimating that for long term credits 1-2 per cent "or thereabouts" is quite sufficient.

Germany's private creditors," he said, "must frankly face the issue. Do they want their capital back, or do they want high interest? If they continue demanding high interest they may never get back their capital."

Herr Hugenberg further opined that amortization of private debts should take place on the basis of Germany's excess of exports.

"Regulation for the future," he said, "can only be one which on one hand puts the interest rate so low that business and industry can stand it, and on the other hand provides for amortization that does not exceed her export balance."

Herr Hugenberg said that if instead of bankers, economists and business men or even governments, were to face each other across a green table they would arrive at the same solution in consonance with the principles of national economy rather than of private gains.

Herr Hugenberg's remarks were made at luncheon tendered to American correspondents.

The Nationalist leader, who is considered one of the chief powers behind the Von Schleicher throne, opined that German exports, if the present rate of interest on private debts continues, will, during 1933, drop so low that payments on interest and amortization cannot be met.

Doctor Orders Former German Kaiser to Bed

Dorn, Holland—(P)—The former German Kaiser Wilhelm II, suffering from a cold and rheumatism, was confined to his room in Dorn castle today by order of his court physician.

Measures to guard him against future intruders have been again intensified. (A German, believed by the police to be mentally deranged, was caught crouching in a castle room recently with a dagger and pistol on his person.) All locks to outer gates and also to some of the doors of the castle itself have been renewed.

Cashiers by which the dogs were kept in the grounds have been lengthened in order to enable the animals to intercept suspected persons at longer range.

The castle bridge over a moat is drawn up and the servants entrance closed at nightfall, after which everybody must pass through the main gate.

Farm Bloc Organized To Fight for Relief

Chicago—(P)—Leaders of the American Farm Bureau federation today hailed the announcement from their president, Edward A. O'Neal, that for the second time a farm bloc had been organized in congress to support relief measures for agriculture.

Word was received at federation headquarters here late yesterday from O'Neal in Washington that 150 members of congress had banded to put through a four-point program during the present short session.

The program, according to O'Neal, included extension of currency reform, and James M. Mead, New York, city cooperation.

Purpose of the New Farm bloc had been endorsed by the other two farm organizations, the National Farmers union and the National Grange, O'Neal's telegram stated.

Sub-committees already are meeting and mapping legislation, O'Neal said. Chairman included Rep. John W. Sullivan, Louisiana for mortgage foreclosures; William W. Field, Illinois, farm relief legislation; Jeff Busby, Mississippi, currency reform, and James M. Mead, New York, city cooperation.

Members of the freight crew were Carl Zymba, engineer, and Willis Raddatz, fireman, both of Fond du Lac.

A call was sent to Chicago for a relief engine and it was expected to move the passenger train within several hours.

No Decision on Allotment Plan

Committee Apparently Favors Application Only in Emergency

Washington—(P)—The house agriculture committee failed to reach a decision today on the domestic allotment relief plan sponsored by farm leaders, but committee discussion indicated a sentiment to apply that method to wheat and cotton only on a strictly emergency basis.

This trend of thought, should it hold when a final vote is taken, would eliminate tobacco and hogs from the measure, and would not include butterfat as requested by dairymen.

The committee will resume consideration of the bill tomorrow. Chairman Jones stressed that no formal action was taken today. Other committee members said the merits of the allotment plan were not discussed in detail.

Most of the round table talk tonight in limiting the bill to the two great staples, wheat and cotton, several members freely predicted this would be the committee's final decision.

Quake Shakes Large Part of Western U.S.

Fifth of Nation Feels Shocks but Little Damage Is Reported

CENTERS IN NEVADA

Chandeliers Sway and Crockery and Windows Are Shattered

San Francisco—(P)—A strong earthquake shook virtually the entire western United States, embracing about a fifth of the nation last night. Seismologists said it was the most severe in the area since 1925.

No serious damage was reported from the series of shocks which began at 10:10 p. m. (Pacific standard time) and continued with diminishing intensity until 11:15. The quake centered in Nevada where windows were shattered.

Clocks were stopped in cities as widely separated as Salt Lake City, Utah, and Fresno, Calif. Chandeliers swayed, pictures were thrown awry and some crockery broken.

At 10:10 p. m., western America, bounded roughly by the Canadian and Mexican borders and extending from the Pacific coast to Salt Lake City, Utah, and beyond, trembled under the series of shocks.

Needles were hurled from seismographs in Spokane, Wash., Berkeley, Calif., and at the University of Santa Clara in San Jose, Calif.

Minutes later newspapers in the area were subjected to hundreds of telephone calls asking the source of the shocks. Most of the queries came from persons reporting swaying chandeliers or stopped clocks.

Rumors of severe damage in remote areas was quickly investigated and disproved.

Former Light Shocks

Seismologists agreed the quake centered in Nevada, where several minor tremors have been recorded in the last few years. Prof. Perry Byerly of the University of California computed the epicenter or

Engineer Scalded In Train Smashup

Passenger Train Crashes Into Waiting Freight Near Burlington

Burlington, Wis.—(P)—The engineer of a Soo line northbound passenger train was painfully scalded when the train failed to take a switch and crashed head on into a waiting freight train eight miles south of here early today.

The injured engineer, Walter Graham, Fond du Lac, was removed to a Burlington hospital suffering from burns to his left leg and other parts of his body. At the hospital it was said he may also have received a fractured left leg.

The accident happened near the town of Wheatland, Wis., several hundred yards beyond the switch during a rain that was partly responsible for the crash, it was reported.

Waiting freight train had been reached for a statement as to the cause it was unofficially reported that the passenger train had been ordered to take the switch and to allow the freight right-of-way.

Albert Frederickson, Fond du Lac, fireman on the passenger train known as No. 1 and which left Chicago about midnight, received an injured wrist and William Wimberly, a porter was treated at the hospital for minor injuries.

Both trains were on the track although the cabin of the freight engine was pushed back into the tender and the first car was pushed upward at a 45-degree angle.

Members of the freight crew were Carl Zymba, engineer, and Willis Raddatz, fireman, both of Fond du Lac.

A call was sent to Chicago for a relief engine and it was expected to move the passenger train within several hours.

3,000 are Expected at Badger Inaugural Ball

Madison—(P)—Arrangements have been made to accommodate more than 3,000 persons at the Governor's Inaugural ball in the state capitol Jan. 2, the Dane County Young People's Democratic club, which has charge of the event, announced today.

Two orchestras will play modern and old time music at the ball, which will be informal. Since the affair is being financed by private subscription, there will be no admission charge.

Every home in Appleton should carry some sort of decorations for the holidays, and everyone who decorates is invited to enter the contest. It will be a disappointment not only to the Post-Crescent but to the entire community if the contest this year is not a success. There is no reason why it should not succeed. This is the time to clip the coupon and prepare it for mailing.

Small Number of Entries Perils Lighting Contest

Tomorrow is the last day for entering the Second Annual Holiday Lighting contest and thus far only six entries have been received. It is quite apparent that unless there is a substantial increase in the number of entries received by tomorrow night it will be necessary to call off the contest feature. Unless there are twenty or more entries the contest will not be at all representative of the homes decorated for the holidays and no prizes will be given.

There is an opportunity, however, to make the contest a success if all those who contemplate decorating their homes for Christmas will get in their entries tonight and tomorrow.

House Passes Collier Bill To Legalize 3.2 Pct. Beer After Shelving Amendments

New Witnesses Called; Gelosi Trial Adjourned To be Resumed Friday After Arrival of New York Witnesses

Madison—(P)—The necessity of bringing additional witnesses from the state of New York brought adjournment today until Friday afternoon of the case of Joseph Gelosi, Elmira, N. Y., charged with being an accessory to the slaying of Andrew Presti, Madison.

After a long consultation with attorneys in his chamber, Judge A. C. Hoppmann announced that there are still some witnesses in New York whose testimony will be necessary to try the case.

There was no indication as to whether the new witnesses are wanted by the state or the defense. The state announced it will attempt to recall for further cross-examination three police officers who testified late yesterday and returned to New York early today.

The sudden adjournment of the case eliminated hope the jury might have had of spending Christmas at home. Recalled at all times after leaving the courtroom each day, the jurors now face the prospect of spending Christmas in their hotel rooms and being permitted to speak to friends and relatives only in the presence of a bailiff.

Only three witnesses appeared on the stand for brief questioning today. Harry C. Monnell, Elmira ice dealer, testified Gelosi purchased ice from him the first week in July last year.

That week the state contends Gelosi was rooming in Janesville awaiting the delivery of Presti's body by Frank Delmonti, alias Maio, and Joe Ross.

Two Doctors Testify

Doctors A. Tormey and M. J. J. Colucy testified concerning their treatment of Gelosi and the latter's child when they lived in Madison. The child was killed and Gelosi wounded by shotgun slugs late by unknown assailants. The state contends the slaying of Presti in an automobile here July 5 was in revenge for the killing of the Gelosi child.

The defense offered several witnesses yesterday to establish an alibi. Joe Romano, an Elmira laborer, testified he worked for Gelosi the last week in June and saw the defendant at home July 5. Andrew C. Moderhak, West Elmira policeman, identified Gelosi as the man who gave the name of Anton Aras when stopped in West Elmira early in July during a police inspection of automobile operators' licenses and registration cards.

Chief Ernest W. Rhoades testified he was uncertain of the date of the police check and could not remember if Aras was the same man as Gelosi. Sergeant Charles H. Roche of the state police force, testified he worked with Rhoades and Moderhak on checking cars July 3 but had no record of questioning Aras.

Sandra Livingston, 21, Milwaukee, who said she accompanied Delmonti and Ross when Presti was slain and who said his body was delivered to Gelosi at Janesville and later dumped out near Belvidere, Ill., had previously testified that she dined with the trio in Janesville July 3.

Richard Weiss and Charles Sampson, operators of a gasoline filling station in Elmira testified that Gelosi, under the name of Aras, purchased gasoline from them regularly and that purchases were made the last week in June and the first week in July.

Gen. Pershing's Brother Suffers Heart Attack

New York—(P)—James F. Pershing, brother of General John J. Pershing, was taken to Manhattan General hospital today after he had suffered a heart attack at his home.

General Pershing was notified in Washington and left immediately for New York. Hospital authorities said Pershing's condition was serious.

FILLING STATION ROBBED

Monroe, Wis.—(P)—Monroe had its first filling station hold up last night when a lone robber escaped with $500 after covering three men with a gun.

Heart Disease Is Fatal To Banker at Kenosha

Kenosha—(P)—Charles C. Brown, 78, president of the First National bank, the Brown National bank and the Northwestern Loan and Trust Co., all of Kenosha, died at his home here early today of heart disease.

Brown was born in Kenosha and had been a resident of the city all his life. In early years he was engaged in the mercantile business, but in 1890 he became cashier of the First National bank. He had been the bank's president since 1909.

An active civic leader, Brown established the Kenosha library and a hospital. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Edith M. Cavanaugh, of Kenosha.

Half Million Aliens are Excluded From U. S.

Washington—(P)—Secretary Stimson today reported to President Hoover that as a result of emergency bars against immigration, over 500,000 aliens who normally would have entered the United States "during the economic depression" have been held out.

The secretary of state reported this result had been accomplished solely through the enforcement of existing provisions of law, principally the clause excluding persons "likely to become a public charge."

FAVORED FOR JUDGESHIP

Wausau—(P)—The Marathon County Bar association yesterday endorsed Patrick T. Stone, Wausau Democrat, for appointment as United States judge for the Western Wisconsin district to succeed the late Judge Claude Z. Luse.

May Merge Counties As Economy Measure

Durand, Wis.—(P)—Consolidation of Pepin and Buffalo counties as an economy measure received a favorable vote of a majority of Pepin-co delegates to a meeting held at Arkansaw, near here, yesterday.

J. M. Axtell, editor of the Pepin Herald and chairman of the meeting, said such a merger would mean a saving to Pepin-co of $300,000 annually. The county has a population of 7,500 and its public buildings, now obsolete, probably will be abandoned if a merger is effected.

It is proposed that Alma be the new county seat. Axtell said the Buffalo-co consolidation group had not yet taken action, but that a majority of the taxpayers of the county are in favor of consolidation.

Loan of $3,342,487 Granted to State By Finance Group

Washington—(P)—Relief loans totaling over $4,480,000 today were voted by the Reconstruction corporation to four states, Wisconsin getting $3,342,487, Ohio $1,077,816, South Carolina $57,500 and Iowa $10,000.

The Wisconsin loan is to care for needs in 51 counties during January and February and the Ohio loan for the needs of Cleveland, Massillon, Alliance, Toledo and Wellsville. The Iowa loan is for use in Des Moines-co this month.

The loan brings the total funds granted Wisconsin to $8,304,770. The application for the loan was accompanied by a communication from the governor-elect of the state saying that he joins with the present governor in his application for relief during January and February.

The Ohio loan brings the total granted that state to $7,932,517 since the federal funds became available. Des Moines, Iowa, was reported to the corporation as having exhausted its poor fund and without resources enough to meet the needs. The total loaned Iowa is brought by this loan to $97,800.

Offers Plan to Ease Debt Burden

Loomis Would Grant Courts Power to Extend Redemption Period

Madison—(P)—State Senator O. S. Loomis, of Mauston, announced today that he will introduce a bill in the 1933 legislature giving the circuit courts power to extend the redemption period for mortgages so as to prevent foreclosures and evictions.

Loomis, a Progressive Republican, said he believes such a law will prevent the foreclosure of farms at least until the federal government can set up machinery to adjust relations between mortgagor and mortgagee through refunding by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

"The R. F. C. has been used in salvaging the equities of industrial institutions and should likewise be used for salvaging the equities of the farm owners in the agricultural territories," Senator Loomis said.

He stated that where the face value of a mortgage is greater than the net foreclosure value the mortgage eventually must be scaled down to the foreclosure value and refunded on terms which the property owner can meet.

Dentist Slain While He Attempts Burglary

Graymont, Ga.—(P)—Dr. M. G. Vaughn, an Augusta dentist, was slain here today by Marshall R. S. Adams as he attempted to burglarize a store. The doctor told authorities before he died that a desire to get something for his daughter, who was coming home for Christmas, led him to attempt the robbery. He said he needed money badly.

CONGRESSMAN IS ILL

Washington—(P)—At the office of Representative Butler of Oregon, it was said today that his condition was grave and his recovery was doubtful. He has been ill of pneumonia for several days.

Man "Legally Dead" For Over 13 Years "Restored to Life"

Marysville, Kas.—(P)—Frederick H. Owen, 55-year-old Frankfort, Kas., farmer, who for 13 years had been missing and declared legally dead, has been "restored to life" by the district court here.

Owen dropped from sight in November, 1918, and after an extensive search in five states had failed to reveal any trace of him, his son, Archibald, on Sept. 28, 1931, filed a petition asking the court to declare his father legally dead and award the estate to the proper heirs. The request was granted on Dec. 3, 1931.

In November of this year, Owen's brother, Charles Owen, living here, received a letter from Exira, Iowa, bearing the signature of John Smith. The writer declared his right name was Frederick Owen. Charles Owen drove to Exira, found his brother and brought him back here. Now the court has legally restored him to life. When Frederick disappeared he left $3,850 in the bank and a large farm. He told his relatives he had lived in Springfield, Mo., for 10 years, later going into the Ozark mountain region where he lived, until he went to Exira. He says he expects to return to Iowa soon.

Writ May be Asked to Halt Milk Price War

Milwaukee—(P)—A mandamus action to force the state department of agriculture and markets to exercise its power to stop the milk price war in Milwaukee was being contemplated today by several small distributing agencies.

An opinion from the attorney general's office indicated that the department has broad powers in the manner, and Richard B. Goodman, attorney for the Gladstone Dairy company, one of the cut rate firms, said the department should be forced to use its authority. Large dairy companies, he said, are now underselling their firm with the object of forcing it out of business.

Britain Advises Paris Not to Ask Debt Arbitration

Paris—(P)—Great Britain will informally counsel France against pursuing an idea under consideration by officials of having the question of payment of the December interest on the American debt submitted to arbitration, according to reports in diplomatic circles.

It is stated that the British feel this would not in the long run contribute to successful settlement of the debt problem and that resort to arbitration would be undesirable because it would be founded on the presumption that the question cannot be settled through the regular diplomatic channels.

However, the British are said to be stronger for the French idea that a general conference or general negotiations should be adopted for treating the debts.

The general situation lined up today about as follows: First, the French attitude is to keep negotiations with America actively going.

Second, eventually to try to move towards a Franco-American study of the debts by experts of the two countries.

Third, a move toward a general conference.

Fourth, the likelihood that France expected nothing vital could be accomplished before the advent of the Roosevelt administration.

Fifth, the likelihood that the government would not attempt for several months to get a new vote from the chamber of deputies on payment of the December interest.

New Contact Formed

The American embassy already has established contact with the new cabinet on the debt question. Theodore Marriner, counselor, the embassy, was received today by M. Cot, under-secretary of state in the foreign ministry.

Wets Ready to Back Beer Bill In High Court

Brewing Interests Think They Can Meet Any Attack Upon Legality

Washington, D. C.—Those in the wet ranks well versed in the law are ready to lay firm hands on any barrel of real beer congress allows and attempt to carry it through the Supreme Court of the United States to constitutional safety.

Whether a bill legalizing beer passes the present session, of congress or later, lawyers for the brewers believe they can meet any attacks upon it by attorneys for prohibitionists.

Edward B. Dunford, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon league, expressed the opinion yesterday that "some method" would be found whereby the constitutionality of beer legislation could be tested before the supreme court.

On the other side is the opinion of Levi Cooke, general counsel of the United States Brewers' association, who said today:

"It is difficult to conceive how a case of law or in equity could be devised whereby, through the action of any federal authority, an act of congress in line with the Collier (beer) bill could be brought to test before the Supreme Court of the United States."

Referring to the Collier bill Cooke said he knew of no attorney representing any brewing interest who was "concerned" over the validity of the measure the house is now debating.

"I know of none who would hesitate, by virtue of any legal concepts involved," he continued, "to meet any kind of framed litigation testing the validity of the proposed congressional enactment."

To support his contention of congressional prerogative in "increasing the alcoholic content of beer," Cooke cited a decision of the late Justice Day of the supreme court in the celebrated Mink case. In that case Day ruled the exercise by the court of passing on the validity of congressional enactments was "not given to it as a body over the action of congress but because the rights of the litigants in justiciable controversies require the court to choose between the fundamental law and a law purporting to be enacted within constitutional authority, but in fact beyond the power delegated to the legislative branch of the government."

Cooke said he considered it "difficult to imagine" a case under the proposed beer legislation which would fall within the Day decision.

seismic vertical as "probably somewhere in Nevada." Seismologists at the University of Santa Clara agreed.

The pens on the recording instrument at the University of California, at Berkeley were thrown clear from the drum at 10:10 p. m., and were replaced seven minutes later when another shock threw them back into position. Professor Byerly said the record of his instrument was comparable to that of 1925 when the major part of Santa Barbara, Calif., was destroyed by an earthquake.

Reports from Reno, Ely, Gerlach and Austin, Nev., indicated the shocks were severe but no damage except broken windows was known to have been caused to buildings. Officials of the Western Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads, operating lines through Nevada, said there had been no interruption of train service nor any damage to roadbeds or rolling stock. Residents at Gerlach denied reports a water tower in that town had been razed.

Shocks widespread. Residents of Rawlins, Wyo., felt the shock and persons in Nevada, Calif., far to the south on the Colorado river, said the ground trembled.

At Sacramento, Calif., police on duty in the state capital building said the structure swayed and trembled. The tallest building in the city, a 16-story office building, swayed noticeably. Many persons in office buildings, hotels and apartments rushed into the streets.

The shocks were comparatively light in San Francisco but were distinctly felt. In the interior California valleys many communities, including Seneca, Fresno and Modesto, reported distinct tremors. Cities as far south as Long Beach and Los Angeles said the earthquake was distinctly felt but caused no damage.

Motorists in Salt Lake City said that during the shock it seemed as though their machines were being pushed over. Curtains rustled, dishes fell from shelves and buildings swayed in the Utah city.

Lack of Funds Causes Greater Use of Sleighs

Methods of providing sleighing facilities for farmers on state and federal highways are discussed in a letter received by Frank Appleton, highway commissioner, from N. P. Hayes, maintenance engineer with the division state highway office at Green Bay.

"Mr. Hayes points out that in the present situation many farmers are unable to find funds for the purchase of gasoline to operate automobiles, and so they are depending on their teams and sleighs to haul their produce to market. This increased amount of sleighing presents a problem to highway commissions in that they must provide sleighing facilities.

It is not necessary, Mr. Hayes says, to leave the entire road covered with snow so that sleighing is possible. He said that only a portion of the road on one side should be left covered with snow for the sleighs. On roads that are paved, all of the concrete should be cleared, he says, and room should be provided on the shoulders for sleighing.

COMMITTEE IS STUDYING HOW TO SAY REPEAL

The exact terms of a repeal resolution to be presented to the Senate is worrying members of the sub-judiciary committee pictured above. # Legislators Decide Future of Fish, Game

BY BERT CLAFLIN

The legislatures of 45 states will convene this winter. Upon their actions will depend the welfare of our fish and game for years to come. A number of the states are clamoring for more economy; and as a result of such calamity howls even more of the funds raised from hunting and fishing licenses will go for the maintenance of schools, political jobs of various kinds and to pay salaries of "efficiency experts" than is already being diverted into these channels.

Of course, most of the states do not enjoy the immense tourist business that comes every season to Wisconsin, and if they wish to let their wild life follow in the wake of the wild pigeon and buffalo because of an indifference toward their residents who love to hunt and fish purely as a sporting proposition, all well and good—it is "their own funeral."

But, so far as Wisconsin is concerned, any misguided attempts on the part of our legislators to further cramp the maintenance of our fish and game should be checked immediately by the watchful sportsmen and business men of the state. We may have beautiful scenery, we may have wonderful roads, we may have the climate which cures hay fever—we would have all those things—but, notwithstanding all these drawing cards, it is the fish and game which draws the 7,000,000 tourists to Wisconsin every year to leave with us over a quarter of a billion dollars.

Must Protect Trade. Will the sportsmen of the state stand idly by, therefore, and allow anyone, even though he be an "efficiency expert," to say that our tourist trade is not of enough value to the people of Wisconsin to warrant close attention and the necessary financial backing to retain it as an asset?

This is not idle talk. With the existing state of affairs and the present depleted treasury of our state, almost anything may be expected. If a starving man had the great Koh-i-Noor diamond in his pocket and could not sell it, he would gladly trade it for a meal, knowing that later on someone else would profit by the transaction. It would be a case of necessity on his part to take the great loss, but the people of Wisconsin are NOT starving to death, and they should not allow one of their greatest and surest assets to be ruthlessly dissipated because of a temporary, so-called "depression."

The state should be able to guard God-given asset of such tremendous value far easier than it can be nationally done by the federal government, where, today, life conservation activities are scattered throughout the department of the interior and the department of commerce, and where it is necessary to obtain the cooperation of other departments such as, that of justice, state, the treasury, post office, labor and several others.

Boy Scouts Fete Parents at Meet In M. E. Church

Howard Bandy Receives Eagle Scout Award During Ceremony

In an impressive court of honor ceremony, Howard Bandy, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Bandy, 219 E. Harris-st., last evening received his Eagle Scout award at a parent's night program and banquet conducted by scouts of Troop 2 at First Methodist Episcopal church. Eighty parents attended the meeting.

Bandy joined the troop in March, 1927, as a tenderfoot and on February, 1931, became a first class scout. The following May he became a Star scout and in May, 1932, was promoted to Life scout rank. He holds 22 merit badges.

Short talks were given by Charles Wood-steen and Michael Gochbauer, former members of the troop. Other talks were given by J. C. Rosebush, Gus Sell, and M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. The banquet was prepared by Mrs. Paul Stevens and Mrs. William Lauer.

Points to Danger Of Fires During Holiday Season

Chief Urges Precautions Against Disaster—Lists Safety Measures

With the Christmas holidays at hand Fire Chief George P. McGillan today reminded Appleton citizens of precautions which should be taken to insure the fullest enjoyment of the festivities which so universally center about the home.

"First of all," the chief says, "the Christmas tree should be placed several feet away from any heating or lighting fixture and fastened securely so it cannot topple over. Lighted candles, even in this age of electricity, sometimes are used as ornaments on trees and in windows, but since this is a hazardous practice it never should be permitted. Many children and adults have been burned to death in fires originating in this way. Strings of miniature electric bulbs are far safer, but care should be exercised in their use for short circuits and contacts of the hot bulbs with flimsy ornaments are likely to start fires.

"Ornaments that are either slow burning or inflammable are recommended for trees and room decorations instead of paper, cotton or other burnable materials.

"Usually gifts are unwrapped close to the Christmas tree and the thin paper is dropped to the floor and allowed to accumulate. Smoking nearby is dangerous, for if a match is lighted at this time there is great danger of fire. Matches, after being lighted, may not be entirely out when discarded and if dropped on the papers, watch out. A tiny blaze flaring up through the paper will jump to the tree, after which real danger follows. Not only might the house burn down but clothing may ignite in the struggle to put out the flames, resulting in painful and serious burns—often fatal.

"A person whose clothing catches fire should be rolled in a rug or woolen blanket to smother the flames.

Toys Cause Fires. "Toys sometimes are the cause of fires. Mechanical toys that use alcohol, kerosene or gasoline as a source of heat or power are extremely dangerous in the hands of an inexperienced child. They should be used under close supervision of an adult—or better still, outside of the house. Safer toys are recommended. The supervision of adults is also suggested for electrical toys to insure safety. Perhaps the most dangerous toy of all is the miniature motion picture machine which can use regular nitrocellulose film. Usually—these toys come equipped with one or two reels of safety film. Child and parents soon tire of these, and commence renting films which are apt to be of the dangerous nitrocellulose type. Not only are these films highly inflammable, they also give off poisonous gas when burning. In attempting to extinguish flames in this type of film, one is likely to inhale the fumes, which usually cause death.

"Smoking should be discouraged in rooms which are profusely trimmed with quick burning decorations and extra caution in handling anything which might cause fire is recommended for this season particularly. Some means for quickly extinguishing the fire that does happen to start certainly should be on hand.

"Particularly stressed by Chief McGillan is the importance of removing the tree and evergreens from the house shortly after Christmas, before they become dried out. In some foreign countries it is considered bad luck to keep the Christmas tree up after Dec. 31.

Court Dismisses Charge Against Appleton Man

Charges of absconding a board bill, against C. A. Lucas, Appleton, were dismissed by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon for lack of evidence. Lucas was arrested on complaint of May Poole, operator of a boarding house here, who charged Lucas absconded after failing to pay a board bill of $130 which he ran up from May, 1927, to April, 1928. Testimony revealed that the woman asked Lucas to leave her boarding house.

Legion Troop, Pack To Have Yule Parties

Boy scouts of Troop 4, Oney Johnson post, American legion, will be entertained at a Christmas party in Appleton high school auditorium at 7:30 Thursday evening, according to Ted Frank, scoutmaster.

Efforts Made to Save Woman From Death for Murder

Widow of Slain Policeman Holds Sentence in S. Carolina Justified

Rock Hill, S. C.—This is the story of two women, one an expectant mother condemned to die for murder, the other a widow with four small children, facing a life of labor to rear them.

The first is Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, who shot to death Rural Policeman Elliott Harris. The other is Mrs. Eula Harris, widow of the slain York-co officer, who believes Mrs. Snipes should die for killing her husband.

Mrs. Snipes, 29, the mother of one child, expects the birth of another next month. While women and welfare workers plead with Governor Blackwood to save her from death in the electric chair next April 7, she is sewing baby clothes in the woman's ward at the state penitentiary.

Mrs. Harris, left with $1,000 insurance money and $300 raised in a subscription fund by newspapers when her husband was shot, is studying shorthand and stenography in the hope that she may be able to support her children, the oldest of whom is six.

"I feel no elation over Mrs. Snipes' conviction and sentence," Mrs. Harris said, "but I feel if we are to have capital punishment that it should be administered to any deserving it—my own woman. She had time to consider it—she took all we had."

"I don't feel that if it were left to me that I would change her sentence. I do not think she regrets it. I don't see that her becoming a mother should alter the case. I have been a mother four times."

"They say it was not murder. I don't know what it was then. He tried to keep her back eight or ten minutes and then she shipped up and grabbed his gun. She is the only one who said he slayed her."

"I know he couldn't have struck her, knowing as I do how kind and generous he was. He would have found some other means of carrying her in."

"She shot him twice and while he lay two more times with the bullets on the ground helpless, she shot him which killed him."

In addition to "Abie" Elliott Harris, Jr., 6, Mrs. Harris has twins, James Lloyd and Mary Anne, 4 years old. The day their father was buried, and Gettys, a 10-month-old boy. She and her children have been making their home here since the officer's was shot last July 17.

Mrs. Snipes contends she shot the officer in self-defense.

"I don't think I should die this way," she said as she sat in her cell. "I am not prepared to go this way."

Harris stopped the Snipes' automobile last fall to search it for whiskey. Finding none, he sought to arrest the Columbia man on charges of reckless driving without a license. Mrs. Snipes testified Harris struck her and she grappled with him for his gun. When the first shot was fired, she said, both held the weapon. She fired the other shots because "I was nervous and excited," she testified.

Mrs. Snipes was convicted at York Dec. 6 and was sentenced two days later to be electrocuted April 7, the first woman to receive the death sentence since the state installed the electric chair 20 years ago.

Register of Deeds Names 2 Assistants

Appointments of Miss Marge Foss Appleton, and Mrs. Angela Greenetz, Little Chute, as deputy register of deeds was announced this morning by A. G. Koch, register of deeds. Starting Jan. 2, Mr. Koch's office will be operated on a new basis under arrangements made by the county board at its November, 1931, session. Instead of the register receiving all fees and placing his own clerks, he will be hired on a salary basis, receiving $2,700 per year, the same as the county clerk and county treasurer. His two deputies also will be paid by the county. The register also will receive one half of all fees for abstract work.

Boy Scout Leaders to Discuss New Program

Scoutmaster and troop committee members of Appleton troops will meet Tuesday at 7:30 Wednesday evening to discuss the new troop service program. Herb Heilig, chairman of the leadership training committee will preside, and parts of the program will be explained by M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Efforts were being made this morning to have all scoutmasters and troop committee heads at the meeting.

Kimberly Woman Given Divorce in Court Here

Mrs. Emma Day, 54, Kimberly, was granted a divorce by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court yesterday afternoon from her husband, Thomas E. Day, 52, Shuonon, on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment. She charged her husband abused and struck her. The couple was wed at Greenville Feb. 9, 1903, and separated Oct. 15, 1932. The case was not contested. The couple has five children, only one of which is affected by the decree. Mrs. Day was given custody of this child and $20 per month for its support and $20 a month alimony.

Various games and stunts will feature entertainment. Members of the American legion Cub pack will have a party at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening in the old Alexander gymnasium on Lawrence college campus. Arrangements are being made by John Oliver, pack master.

Rural Schools Close For Holiday Vacation

Outagamie-co rural schools will close Thursday and Friday for the annual Christmas vacations. Most of the schools are planning Christmas programs to mark the end of the year. The schools will reopen on Jan. 3, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools.

Patrons Crowd Postoffice as Yule Rush Opens

Heaviest Day of Season Is Recorded Here Yesterday

A steady stream of patrons in the postoffice lobby late yesterday afternoon marked the opening of a somewhat belated Christmas rush, according to postal officials. Patrons started lining up in the lobby in front of the service windows shortly after 3:30 yesterday afternoon and continued to move in orderly fashion until the windows were closed for the evening.

Although cancellations failed to approach the number registered a year ago, there was a marked increase over Monday. Approximately 42,760 pieces of mail were handled yesterday compared to 28,000 pieces on the preceding day. On the same day a year ago 105,500 pieces had been handled.

Most of the force of additional men hired for the Christmas rush was placed on duty this morning. Nine trucks are being used to distribute parcel post, four men are being kept busy facing up letters and cards for the cancelling machine, and others are sorting and handling parcel post and cards.

No Increase Noted In Number of Old Bills in Use Here

Despite the Christmas shopping during the last 10 days, there has been no noticeable increase in the number of old large-sized paper bills, according to bankers here. A few merchants said they had noticed an increase in the number of the old bills presented by customers, indicating that these had been hoarded up to now. Officials of two of the banks here, however, say there has been no increase in the number of these bills presented at the banks for deposit, while officials of a third bank said there is a steady decrease in the number being received.

POSTOFFICE TRIAL. Trial of Otto Daelke, proprietor of a filling station at the corner of W. Wisconsin-ave and N. Richmond-st, was postponed by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning on complaint of Fred J. Hersteldt, Appleton, on a charge of assault and battery.

Urges Immediate Care For County Game Birds

In a letter to the directors of the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association, R. J. Meyer, vice president of the group, urges that the program of winter feeding be inaugurated immediately if the game birds in the county are to be saved. The letter follows:

"The present cold weather and the annual snow make it imperative that we start our winter feeding programs without more delay, if we are to bring our birds through the winter. The cold weather is just starting, and more is to come. As means of affording immediate relief for the birds and at the same time locating the best spots in which to place our winter feeding stations at the first mild weather, I suggest that each of you obtain a quality of corn on the cob and a roll of stove pipe wire. At home, where it is warm and comfortable, cut the wire into lengths of about 15 inches and twist a length around each ear of corn.

The Cobs to Brush. "Then take the prepared ears out into the hunting country and fasten the cobs to the brush, about 12 to 18 inches above the ground where they will not be covered by the first snow, but where the birds can get at them.

"By preparing the cobs with wires at home, the hands can be kept warm while fastening them to the brush and the job will not be unpleasant as if you try to do all the work after reaching the scene of action.

"This work will help us locate the best spots in which to set out the hopper feeding stations. Get the boys interested in this. The high school and 4-H boys will be the ones to reap the benefits in future years and they can do a lot to help. Many of them live on farms and would not have far to go to their own woods or fields to place the corn. Once the birds have found the corn, they will return and no more searching will be necessary. Tracks in the snow will help locate the spots where the birds hang out.

"If you want any further information, get in touch with me or with Charley Steidl at Stevensville."

8 Cities Have Entered Teams In Bridge Meet

Tournament Will be Staged Here Saturday Afternoon, Jan. 7

Delegations from at least eight cities have already indicated their intention of attending the state contract bridge tournament which will be conducted here Saturday afternoon, Jan. 7, by the Appleton Contract Bridge association and the Appleton Post-Crescent. Entries are being received by the bridge editor of the Post-Crescent.

The bridge editor already has received inquiries from teams in Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Madison and Appleton. Entries also are expected from Wausau, Manitowish, Sheboygan and La Crosse. Play will be for teams of two and the entry fee will be $1 per person or $2 a team. All money above actual expenses will be awarded in prize.

The tournament will be held either at the Appleton Elks club or the North Shore Country club, depending on the number of teams entered.

Dr. George E. Massart, president of the Appleton association, said that the state tournament is being planned with the view of organizing a state association. Immediately after the play the group will hold a business session at which the organization will be discussed.

Mrs. Emma Hoaglin, Oshkosh, a certified contract bridge teacher, has charge of the tournament arrangements.

Pupils to Present Christmas Program

Pupils of the Fernwood rural school, town of Freedom, will present a Christmas program at the school house at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Miss Elizabeth Oparska, teacher, is in charge. An operetta, "The Poor Little Rich Girl" and a short Christmas play, "Grandma's Christmas," will be the features of the program. There also will be several short entertainment numbers. The cast for the operetta follows:

A little rich girl, Georgette Garvey; her governess, Rosella Van Schindler; matron of the orphanage, Irene Hermen; orphans, Lucille Simpson, Evelyn Hermen, Mildred Martzell, Jerome Vosters, Calvin and Percy Spice; queen of the fairies, Agnes Vosters; fairies, Mary Van Camp, Lillian Spice and Lucille Salma; sunbeams, Lorraine Huss, Marvella Peters, Elaine Huss and Dorothy Greiner; snowflakes, Della Rooyman, Grace Van Schindler, Cecile MacZeh, snowbirds, Marvella Van Camp, Glen Huss, Kerby Spice and Norbert Vosters; love, Linda Huss.

Outagamie-co Plan Will Be Discussed

Dr. J. B. MacLaren, Appleton, will lead a discussion at a meeting of the Winnebago County Medical society at Menasha tonight on the "Outagamie-co Plan for the Care of the Indigent Sick." This plan was proposed by the Outagamie County Medical society to the county board at its meeting last month and approved at that time. A dinner will precede the meeting at Hotel Menasha. The annual election of officers is to be held at the business meeting. The members are to be guests of Dr. A. B. Jensen, Neenah.

La Veaux Is Operator Of Milwaukee Railroad

Fred J. La Veaux has been named operator at the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific freight depot on S. Oneida-st to succeed H. J. Kell. Mr. Kell, who was former operator at Stambough, Mich., before coming to Appleton several months ago, now holds a similar capacity in the road's freight depot at Iron Mountain, Mich. Mr. La Veaux was transferred to Appleton from Forest Junction station.

Free Turkey Lunch, Thurs. Nite, Green Lantern Gardens, Highway 47.

Shift Appleton Dry Agents to Green Bay

Federal dry agents stationed at Appleton and Marinette have been shifted to Green Bay, according to announcement yesterday from Maurice Silverman, deputy district prohibition administrator at Milwaukee. Agents stationed at Antigo have been shifted to Shawano. Since there are federal court commissioners in both Green Bay and Shawano and none in Antigo, Appleton or Marinette, Mr. Silverman said the transfers will cut agents' traveling expenses by from $350 to $500 a month.

Lists Rules for Building Estate

Lecture Series on Personal Investments Brought To Close

Ten rules for building and protecting an estate were suggested by Prof. H. R. Doehring of the University of Wisconsin extension division in his final lecture of the series on "Managing Personal Investments" at the Y. M. C. A. Monday Night. The lecture course was sponsored by the Appleton Post-Crescent and the university extension division.

The rules follow: Purchase insurance; seek competent financial advice, but from more than one source; seek safety of principle on investments; insist on adequate earnings behind security; practice diversification; insist on marketability of security; buy outright; properly time buying and selling; buy for longer swings in market; watch investments constantly.

An estate, of course, cannot be built up unless one so budgets his expenditures that a balance remains at the end of each month, he pointed out. It is the variable expenditures that must be controlled if one is to attain a balance.

Incomes, he declared, fall under three classifications. There is the income of the salaried man, which is limited, but fixed and relatively steady. There is more chance of expansion in the business man's income, and the business man must guard against over-expansion, Prof. Doehring said.

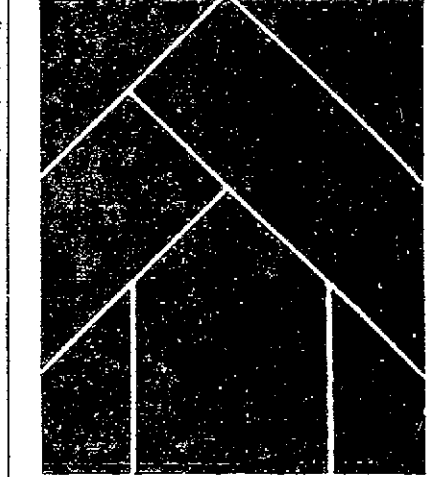

The professional man's income has the characteristics of the first two classifications, but it also is apt to be erratic.

Boy Admits Holdups, Mother Tells Police

Chicago—(P)—Such is life: Always full of problems. The problems that confronted Mrs. Valerie Krol was this:

"What shall I do with my son, Stanley, who confessed he had committed his first crimes participating in several robberies?" She solved it by turning him over to the police. It was, she said, "the right thing to do."

Stanley is her only son. She hoped the police would make him a good boy.

Expect Crowd at Pool Meeting at Courthouse

A large crowd is expected to attend a meeting of the directors of the Outagamie-co unit of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool at the courthouse tonight to hear a talk by Max Cichon, Elkhorn farmer, who was evicted from his home several weeks ago by deputies' guns. Cichon now faces criminal charges as a result of resisting deputies when they attempted to evict him. He is secretary of the Walworth-co unit of the pool. Tomorrow night Mr. Cichon speaks at a meeting at Oshkosh and Friday night at Berlin. W. M. Singler, state president of the pool, will speak tonight also.

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Nelson Wightman, government engineer, is attending the annual conference of federal engineers in Milwaukee this week. Various projects for river improvement and engineering programs are being discussed.

Water Clear as Fishermen Start Erecting Shanties

With nearby lakes and rivers covered with ice, Appleton ice fishermen are getting their tackle into shape. Several already have been lured to their favorite haunts on Lake Winnebago and the Fox and Wolf rivers during the past few days as mild weather supplanted the frigid blast.

Thus far only a few ice shanties have been erected, but a few more mild days may see the lakes and streams again studded with them. Pike, pickerel and perch can now be taken from the waters of lakes in this section of the state, and the sturgeon season will open on Jan. 5. Several Appletonians, who find great sport in fishing for herring on Green bay, are getting their equipment ready. Herring are lured easily with red beads or bits of red flannel attached to the hook. In the past few years, thousands of herring have been taken from the Bay.

On Lake Winnebago, the Fox and Wolf rivers, and other nearby bodies of water, each fisherman is limited to five "tip ups" each having one line and one hook according to Louis Jeske, game warden. Fishermen say the water and ice is clear this year and will provide better fishing. Last winter the water was exceptionally turbid and somewhat hampered fishing.

Income Tax Office Here May Be Moved

Members of State Commission Discuss Change At Conference

Two members of the Wisconsin Tax commission, Charles D. Rosa and Harold M. Groves, were in Appleton yesterday for a conference with Leo J. Toonen, assessor of incomes for Outagamie and Waupaca counties, regarding the possibility of consolidation of income tax districts of the state.

The consolidation is being considered, it is said, in an effort to economize. Under plans, which have not been confirmed, it is understood that Waupaca is to be shifted to another district while Outagamie also will be placed in a different district. Whether the headquarters of the new district, which probably will comprise three or possibly four counties, will be located in Appleton, is not known. It is not considered likely, however, that the headquarters will remain here as at the present, quarters of the assessor of incomes at the courthouse are not sufficiently large to permit expansion.

There are 30 income tax districts in the state and under the proposed economy plan these would be reduced by adding more counties to districts, thus eliminating several. This would mean that several income tax assessors and many of their employees would be thrown out of work. Nothing definite has been decided, however, although Mr. Toonen said he expects to learn within a few days of the commission's plans.

Get Applications For Relief Post

City to Hire Supervisor of Investigators in Few Days

Several applications for the position of supervisor of poor department investigators, as required by the state industrial commission to make the city eligible for state aid, have been received by Mayor John Goodland, Jr. Most of the applicants are university or college graduates who have taken the required courses and have had some experience in relief and social work.

No action will be taken to hire a supervisor for another few days, the mayor said. Some applicants are to be interviewed, and it is expected there will be additional applications.

Three new investigators for the relief department went to work Monday. They are Mrs. Laura Burminger, Miss Kathleen Conney and Miss Mary Schenk. Miss Maude Priest has been employed for the next six months in a like capacity, so the city now has four such workers. Acquisition of a supervisor will complete the change in the city's relief outlay necessary to make it eligible to receive state relief aid.

Mild Weather Rules as Winter Arrives Tonight

Milwaukee—(P)—Winter officially comes to Wisconsin at 7:15 tonight, but without the threat of snow which would bring a white Christmas. Meteorologist Frank H. Coleman, Milwaukee, said a shift in the expected storm area left snow only in the north part of the state. Mild weather was prevalent throughout the state and nation today, with 20 at Superior the coldest reading in Wisconsin.

Racine Council Favors Semi-Annual Payments

Racine—(P)—The common council of Racine last night voted to petition the legislature to enact legislation permitting semi-annual payment of taxes and urged that all gasoline tax money be returned to the cities to finance local projects for the relief of unemployment. The councilmen contended that construction of new highways should be postponed until business and employment conditions improve.

Entertain 20 Pupils At Christmas Party

Twenty students of the Fifth ward school were entertained at a Christmas party at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon by the Appleton Rotary club. The Rotarians called for the children at noon and brought them back to school in the afternoon. A Christmas tree and presents for the children were among the features of the party.

Slight Change in Lighting Effects At Ice Cathedral

Slight alterations were made in the lighting of the Ice Cathedral on Lawrence college campus yesterday afternoon, resulting in a marked improvement in the general effect. All last evening cars were lined up at the curb and hundreds of people walked about the building, while hundreds of cars drove slowly by the structure while the occupants marvelled at its beauty.

The building is lighted each evening from dusk until about 10 o'clock. Even in the daytime, with the sunlight reflected from the crystal ice, it is an attractive picture, but its greatest attraction is at night with its dazzling brilliance. It is the only structure of its kind in Wisconsin and one of the very few in the country.

House Is Nearing Vote on Measure To Legalize Beer

Both wets and dries were set upon attempting to revise the measure to suit them.

No Action on Wine Apparently abandoning temporarily their efforts to secure legalization of wine at this session, members of the wine bloc said it was useless to propose an amendment to the beer bill.

Representative Lea (D., Calif.) head of the group, said efforts would be renewed in the next congress in the event the senate does not include wine.

Members of the Republican wet bloc met behind closed doors in an effort to get an agreement on amendments to be offered but were unsuccessful.

Those present—about 50—agreed to support the Collier bill, however. Representative O'Connor (D., N. Y.), co-author of the O'Connor-Hull beer bill defeated in the last session 228 to 169, had a dozen amendments including one to increase the federal tax from $5 to $7.50 a barrel and another to prohibit the use of imported materials in the manufacture of beer.

Another anti-prohibitionist, Representative LaGuardia (R., N. Y.), wanted to require states that have repealed their prohibition enforcement laws to take affirmative action toward legalizing beer. This he contended, would require the states to enact legislation for the distribution of beer.

Wants State Rule The states should have time, he holds, to reenact their enforcement and regulatory laws in order to be in full control of the situation within their borders.

These proposed amendments were discussed by the Republican wet bloc but Representative Andrew (R., Minn.), the first to leave the session declared "they are not having much luck in getting together."

Stirred by the progress already made toward modification of the Volstead law, dry organizations again had spokesmen active in corridors of the house side of the capitol, and statements of their attitude were being distributed.

Chairman of the National Union Committee for Law Enforcement, had circulated among the legislators a communication headed "Congress celebrates Christmas" which in part said:

"Not since the crucifixion has a more shocking proposal been made by any nation calling itself Christian than the sacrilegious attempt of the American congress to celebrate the birth of the Son of God by passing the beer for revenue bill on the calendar of the house for discussion and action."

Bitter Attack "No such insult has been offered to the Son of God in any nation calling itself Christian since Judas Iscariot gave him the kiss of betrayal and sold him for thirty pieces of silver."

On leaving the meeting of the Republican wet bloc, Representative William E. Hull of Ohio, who presided, said "we did not agree on amendments to be offered, but we did agree to support the bill on the final vote."

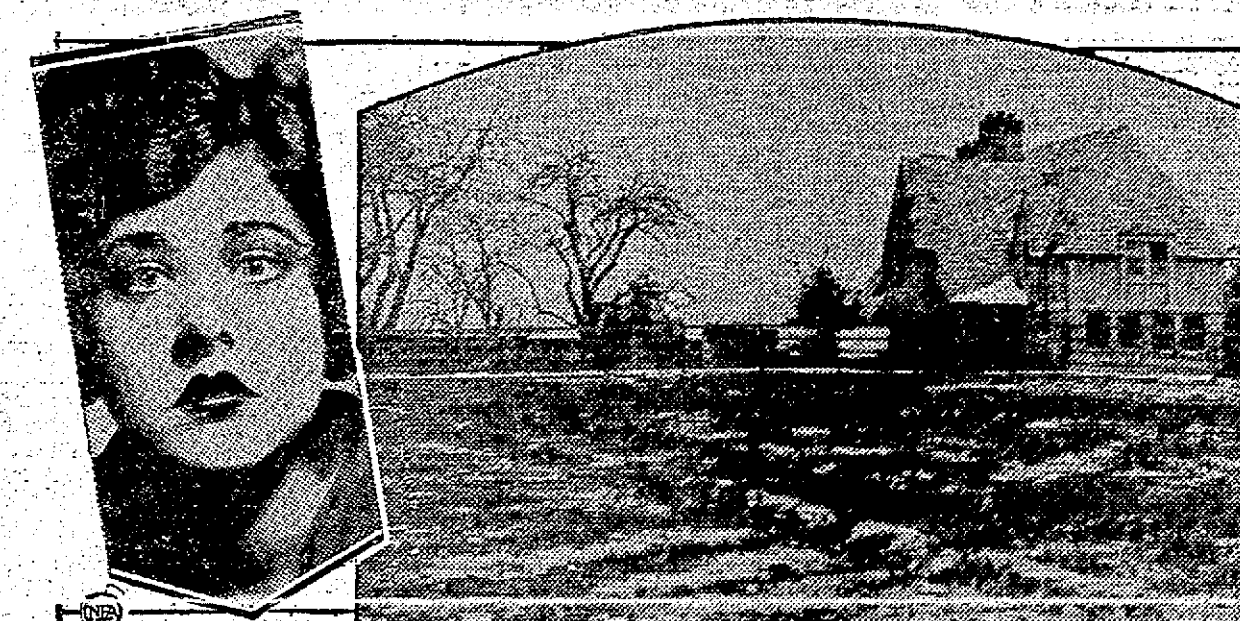

The Republicans mustered 109 votes for the Garner bill repeal resolution on the first day of congress, more than ninety of whom were members of the wet bloc.

The anti-prohibitionist Republicans got together on one point as amendments, that was to oppose the measure.

It seems to be just as good a racket as it was 40 years ago, and there doesn't seem to be much you can do about it."

The senator, who is chairman of the senate banking committee, explained he referred to "promoters who go around and persuade people they might be entitled to a share of the famous Drake estate," presumably left by Sir Francis Drake, the British colonial explorer.

WHERE LIBBY HOLMAN SEEKS SECLUSION TO AWAIT STORK

Libby Holman Reynolds (inset), widow of the slain tobacco heir, has sought seclusion to await birth of her child and is reported to have leased this quiet retreat near Wilmington, Del. It is the estate of Albert Ives, an architect, on Owl's Neck Road.

Want More Toys, Gifts For Needy Children

In the past few days a number of parents of needy children in the city have called the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. to inquire whether their children have been placed on the list of youngsters being supplied with games and toys by the Hi-Y club.

Annually the clubs have made an appeal to families in the city to give old toys that can be repainted or repaired, such as games, dolls, doll buggies, skates, sleds—anything that might be given to a needy child to make him happy on Christmas day.

The boys have been collecting articles for the past three or four days repairing and painting them and wrapping them for delivery. The names of needy children are being secured from the welfare and relief society and from the city poor department.

"We haven't anywhere near enough toys, games, and presents," C. C. Bailey, boys work secretary of the association, said today. "And with the colds that are coming to us, not to forget certain children, indications are someone will have to go without."

"This year there are a great number of children in families which annually have found some way of giving them a merry Christmas. The gifts were small, often some article of wearing apparel or a few games. Unless someone else furnishes the gifts this year these children are going to go without and Christmas will be just another day to them."

Common Council Faces Short Session Tonight

With only a few bills awaiting action, the common council faces a short session tonight, it is believed. No questions which might result in long debate are in prospect.

The attempt scheduled to cut the alcoholic content to 2.75 per cent.

No Agreement on Plan When the senate judiciary subcommittee broke up from its executive session, Chairman Blaine handed the tentative draft of a repeal amendment to reporters but said there was "no agreement it will be adopted."

"We have agreed upon the language but not on the principle," he added.

"This resolution, we have agreed, will repeal the eighteenth amendment, protect dry states, bring the liquor problem within control of the states and bar return of the saloon."

The committee will meet again shortly to decide upon the manner in which the resolution should be submitted to the states.

Then, Blaine announced, the committee will get down to the voting stage, and decide which clauses of the proposed resolution should be retained and whether it should be approved.

He did not indicate when the committee would be able to report, but senate leaders have made plans to begin consideration of the repeal question shortly after the Christmas recess if the committee is ready.

Rapid progress was being made by Blaine's subcommittee, however, and members expressed the view that it would not be long in reaching an agreement.

This meeting today, at which a tentative resolution was drafted, was only the third the committee has held.

With the difficult task of framing language out of the way, committee members predicted the voting on principles involved would not take long.

for money," Norbeck said. "The whole thing is just a fraudulent undertaking for the purpose of leading gullible people into it."

"The fraud order has been published, stories about it published, but it does not seem to interfere with the promoters. About all we can do besides this is to advise people against it."

Balmy Breezes Blow on First Day of Winter

Snow Disappears as Warm Rays of Sun Send Mercury to 36 Degrees

Balmy breezes blowing in this direction from the sunny southwest today marked the first official day of the winter season.

With skies cloudless, the rays of the sun ate their way in to what little snow was left on the ground, and streets were slushy.

As if to further conceal the arrival of winter, the weatherman today predicted more fair weather for tonight and Thursday. Tonight the mercury will drop slightly in this vicinity, but Thursday it is due for another rise.

The sun today was scheduled to arrive at winter solstice, the time when it is nearest the south pole. At that time the world's axis is tilted its full 23 degrees, 17 minutes so the northern continent receives the least amount of heat.

Today also was the shortest day of the year, the sun rising at 7:29 this morning, and setting at 4:30. From Dec. 21 to June 21 the days will become longer. On March 21 night and day will be exactly the same length.

For more than a decade, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Louis Howe, McHenry, and Stephen T. Early have formed a group of confidants which lived up in every sense to the most inclusive meaning of that much-overused word. They have foregathered with close intimacies on many occasions, and the exchange of opinions among them has been free of every restraint.

Probably no three men anywhere could be said to know the mind of the new President, or each other's minds better than Howe, McHenry and Early. Certainly if the personal equation means anything, the new secretaries should begin their duties with a vast advantage over the old.

Close Friends of New President to Be Secretaries

Roosevelt Expected to Continue Hoover Tradition Of Three Aides

BY BYRON PRICE Washington—(P)—Political Washington has heard with some surprise that President-elect Roosevelt intends to perpetuate the system of multiple White House secretaries—a system which many think has not worked well under President Hoover.

There had been much expectation that a part of the "new deal" would be the installation of a single secretary, in place of the present three.

It remains, however, for the incoming President to disclose how the secretarial duties shall be distributed—a decision which may, after all, be the determining factor, changing and strengthening materially the three-way set-up.

There is no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt has this question of White House office management very near the top of his list of important problems for solution after March 4. The December visit of Louis McH. Howe to the White House to study this question is prime evidence of steps toward special preparedness.

System Complicated So far as the public is concerned, many complaints about the Hoover secretariat have been traceable to the apparent lack of a definite division of responsibility among the three secretarial offices.

One labor leader, after a call at the White House, told his friends that he never would go there again because he had been humiliated from one secretary to another without finding any of them fully prepared to deal with him, and had left completely baffled and defeated.

Another source of complication has been the fact that one or more of the secretaries frequently have appeared wholly in the dark as to what the chief and the President himself were doing about routine matters.

Over-lapping and lack of coordination probably cannot be entirely eliminated from such a system, but the more there is of it the more the President suffers and the weaker is the organization on which he relies for very important things.

One important change, Mr. Roosevelt apparently does intend to make: one important change. He is considering who have been his very close personal friends, and very close personal friends to each other. That Mr. Hoover did not do.

For more than a decade, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Louis Howe, McHenry, and Stephen T. Early have formed a group of confidants which lived up in every sense to the most inclusive meaning of that much-overused word. They have foregathered with close intimacies on many occasions, and the exchange of opinions among them has been free of every restraint.

Probably no three men anywhere could be said to know the mind of the new President, or each other's minds better than Howe, McHenry and Early. Certainly if the personal equation means anything, the new secretaries should begin their duties with a vast advantage over the old.

It Is Said—

That Christmas tree dealers are experiencing a heavy last-minute rush to buy evergreens. One Appleton dealer returned from the north Tuesday morning with a load of 75 trees and sold every one of them at $1 apiece within three hours. Another dealer, from Kaukauna, also returned Tuesday morning with a load of 65 trees and disposed of the entire lot before the end of the day. Both these dealers were planning to make another trip north Wednesday for more trees.

That health conditions at McKinley school are not as bad as reported. Miss Lucille Nehls is not ill with measles, but has been teaching regularly. Miss Katherine Tracy is suffering with pneumonia, not Agnes Tracy, as previously reported.

That vandals early this week entered Butte des Morts golf course at night and chopped down three spruce trees on No. 5 hole. Officials of the club are seeking to learn the identity of the vandals.

Outlines Program for Home Made Christmas

Washington—(P)—A "home made merry Christmas" was planned today by Miss Ella Gardner, recreation specialist of the children's bureau, for children whose Santa must come this year from the zero zone of frozen assets.

"Every member of the family must do his part to kindle its warmth and gaiety," was her one rule for a real celebration at small cost.

"First of all, the home must take on a festive air," she directed, suggesting:

Wherever possible, a trip to the woods for greens and berries. Christmas tree decorations made by the children themselves—the traditional strings of pop corn and cranberries; yellow corn boiled until it is soft, and strung like beads.

The color varied by burling some of the corn in beater, a paper chain made from the bright covers of old magazines, most effective from strips three-eighths of an inch wide and four inches long; paper straws or macaroni cut into half-inch lengths and strung with stars and circles cut from colored paper; icicles made from bright strings suspended in strong alum water; gilded or red-enamelled chestnuts, berries and pine cones; gingerbread boys and girls; tarlatan bags filled with peppermint.

If the children are supplied with scissors, crayons, paste, bright paper, and bits of worsted, cord and ribbon, they will design and make tree decorations of their own," she added.

Further directions included: Christmas carols should be in the air. Christmas stories may be read. Children enjoy family pantomimes and theatricals.

Family Christmas customs should be observed—Christmas eve candle-lighting, each member of the family making a wish for all the others as he lights his; an annual all-family game of "hunt the thimble"; a special skating or sledding party.

"Family antics of some special sort seem to be the clear and joyous memories of Christmas day."

"This, the real essence of Christmas, outlasts many times over the memory of gifts and goodies upon which we usually spend so much time and energy."

DEATHS

THOMAS R. DUVALL Thomas R. DuVall, 69, a former resident of Appleton, died Monday afternoon at a Fond du Lac hospital following a few weeks' illness. Survivors are the widow; one daughter, Mrs. Fred Miller, Ripon; and a son, Clyde, of California; four grand children; and two sisters. Mrs. Ellen Morse of Detroit and Mrs. Alice Fiedler, Appleton. Mr. DuVall was born June 11, 1863, at Stellenbosch, South Africa, came to Appleton with his parents as a boy and was educated in Appleton schools. He left here when he was 21 years of age. For the last 40 years he had been in the grocery business at Ripon.

DAN GLASHEEN Dan Glasheen, 62, route 4, Kaukauna, died at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning after a six weeks' illness. He was born in the town of Buchanan and had made his home in that vicinity all his life. He was a member of St. Mary Catholic church. Survivors are his wife, two sons, Edward and William, Kaukauna; and three brothers, Tom, Joseph, and William, town of Buchanan. The funeral probably will be held at 9:30 Friday morning from St. Mary church, Kaukauna, with the Rev. A. Roder in charge. Burial will take place in St. Francis cemetery, Hollandtown.

KLASEN FUNERAL Funeral services for Ludwig Klasen, 87, a former resident of Dale and New London, who died Monday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Warning, 159 E. Irving-st., Oshkosh, will be conducted at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Conrad Funeral home, 103 Waugood-st., Oshkosh. Burial will be in Shiocton cemetery.

ROY S. KIMMEL The funeral of Roy S. Kimmel, 52, Milwaukee, a former resident of Appleton, who died last week in Milwaukee, was held Tuesday at Milwaukee. Burial was in Pine-lawn cemetery. Survivors are his wife, Edith Kimmel; three children, Walter, Lloyd and Majet; and two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Becker and Mrs. M. VanDerhyden, all of Milwaukee.

OINK! OINK! OINK! Salt Lake City, Utah—Traffic in the heart of this city's business section came to a sudden halt. Automobile brakes squealed as policemen held up restraining hands. Not a driver knew what was the trouble until down the middle of the street came a herdman with 40 hogs and 75 or 100 goats in front of him. Street cars and automobiles waited several minutes for the animals to pass.

Economy Urged By Meeting in Rural Schools

State Aid Only 88 Per Cent
Of Amount Expected,
He Says

Strictest economy, except where it will deprive children of opportunity is urged on rural school board members in a circular letter issued this week by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Mr. Meating points out that a recent communication from John Callahan, state superintendent of schools, reveals that state aid for elementary schools in 1932 will be only 88 per cent of the amount expected, and that this reduction must necessarily be made up by economy, as school budgets are now set up and cannot be changed.

"You cannot put children in cold storage during the depression," Mr. Meating says. "They're here and they must be cared for. It's cheaper to educate children than to care for them in penal institutions. Let us not drive economy to the point where the children will suffer. We can reduce expenses along many lines and we have reduced them. We should be careful in the use of supplies, careful not to buy equipment unless it meets a definite need, careful to make full use of what has been bought. My office is back of every economy you can think of that does not deprive the children of opportunity."

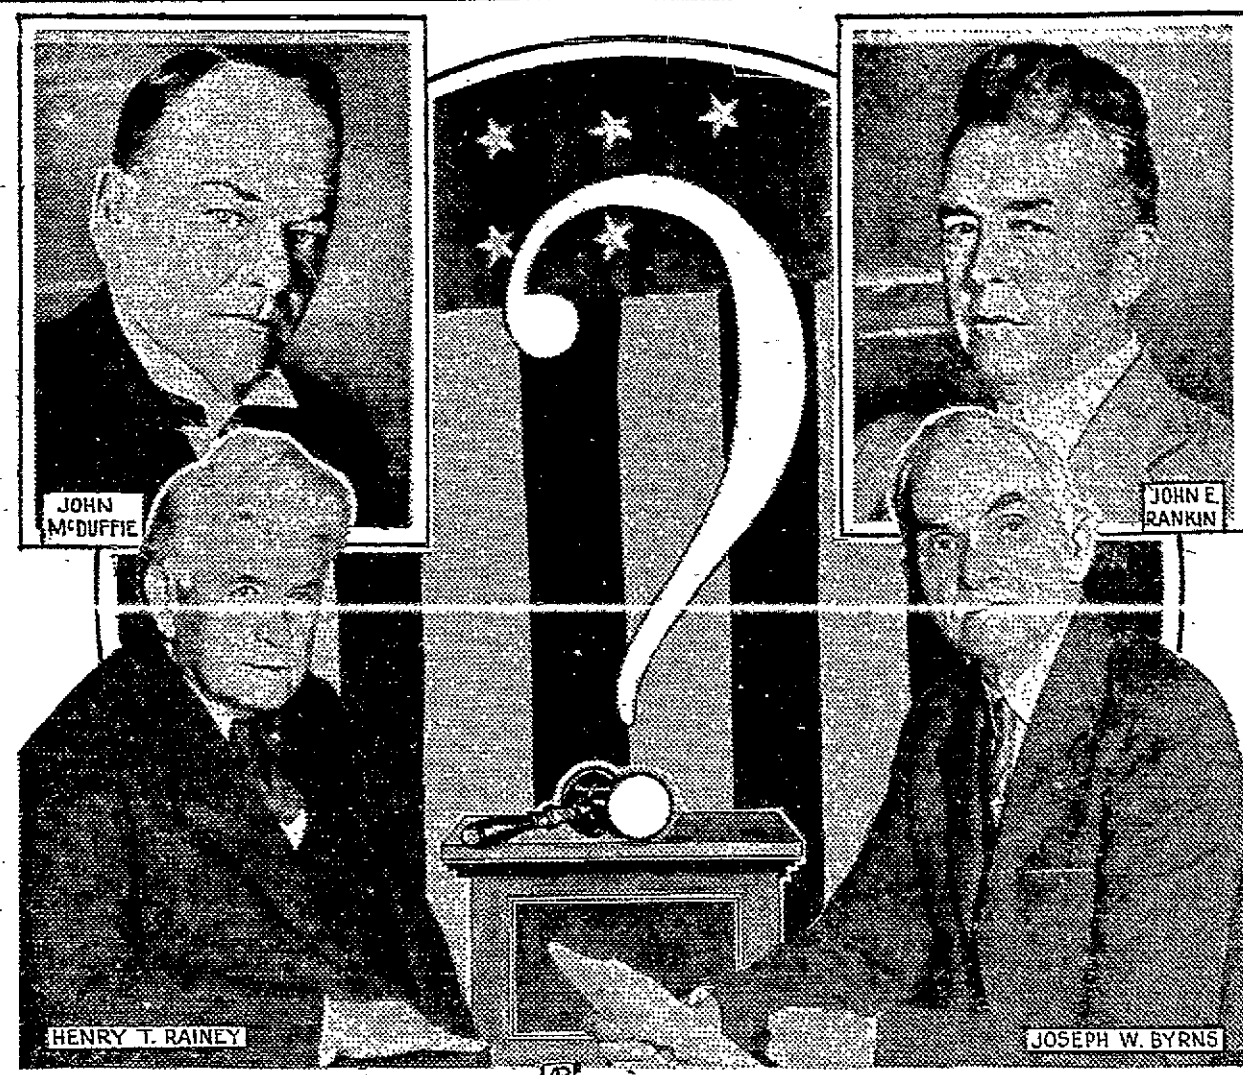

"The Taxpayers' Alliance is starting a drive to compel communities to close their small schools. It costs just as much to run a school with five pupils as one with 25 or 30. It will be well to study this movement."

Points To Movement
"You have seen items about it in the newspapers and you should be ready with your arguments, for and against, to present to our members of the legislature. If such schools are closed, it will be necessary to transport pupils to a near-by school. Several such districts in this county have been closed for years, and these districts have no school tax to pay, or a very small one. The state pays the entire cost up to $500 if the school is closed. I am not trying to urge this movement at this time, but merely making a statement for your information to start you thinking."

Mr. Meating's annual report shows there is one school in the county with less than 5 pupils; four schools with from 6 to 10 pupils; 10 with from 11 to 15; 23 with from 16 to 20; 19 with from 21 to 25; 20 with from 26 to 30; 18 with from 31 to 35; 8 with from 36 to 40; 9 with from 41 to 45; 4 with from 46 to 50; one with from 51 to 55; and two with from 56 to 60.

Commenting on the budget set up by the county board for the county school superintendent's department for the next year Mr. Meating says: "I have heard some comments regarding the budget set aside by the county board for the county superintendent. The county superintendent

ENTER CONTEST TO FILL SPEAKER GARNER'S SHOES.

Despite the crush of important legislation facing the short session of congress, the race for speakership of the new house is commanding attention. Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, John McDuffie of Alabama, and John E. Rankin of Mississippi are actively seeking the post while others are being mentioned. The election probably will not be made until March.

Practical Gifts Being Bought This Christmas

Chicago—(P)—Santa's pack this Christmas will be filled with toys and practical gifts—hosiery, handbags, shirts, lingerie, socks and ties. His sleigh will be heavy with end tables, odd chairs, refrigerators, even pots and pans.

That's based on what folks are buying on State-st. where the world's largest number of huge department stores are concentrated.

The shopper's dollar on State-st. this holiday season buys $1.50 worth as compared with 1929, and the balmy weather that has succeeded zero temperatures has not been receiving that budget amount as salary. The total includes all office expenses, such as printing, postage, stationery, supplies, clerk hire, salary and travel expense of the county superintendent. This office has been run so economically that there was a balance of $1,269.49 in the budget from last year's appropriation. The county board reduced the superintendent's salary and limited the expense so that it was possible to reduce the appropriation for the current year by $1,500.

brought out crowds of last-minute buyers.

Outside the gaily decorated stores movement through the milling package-laden throng is slowed to a snail's pace. Policemen, hoarse from directing impeded traffic, estimate that the number of pedestrians pushing and shoving past the so-called "world's busiest corner"—State and Madison—is as large as last Christmas.

And judging from the human sardine-like effect encountered in the dime stores, each shopper must be pushing open their doors at least once. Department store basement stores are also like bee-hives.

Merchants expect total sales to approach those of last Christmas, but business in dollars and cents will be smaller because prices are about a third lower than last December.

From 8,000 to 10,000 men and women are employed temporarily in the dozen big department stores located within six blocks and in the intervening smaller stores and specialty shops.

In better years State-st. business reaches a total of $200,000,000 a year. A fair monthly average now is $10,000,000 with December ringing up $12,000,000 in the cash register.

These figures are based upon information obtained from F. D. Kelly, head of one of the department stores and immediate past national president of the Dry Goods Dealers of America.

This year will be a Christmas for children.

Toy sections report business very pleasing. Sales are also good in games and bridge accessories for adults.

Buying throughout the department stores tends to the practical and gifts which are termed accessories, such as gloves, scarfs, costume jewelry, handbags, ties, socks, handkerchiefs. Lingerie sections and toilet article counters are busy.

This is a year in which the housewife might expect to find a desired new skill under the family Christmas tree. Electric percolators, toasters, all kinds of new labor-saving household devices, even washing machines, have come in for Christmas glamor.

"Something to wear" apparently is a good answer to that puzzling Christmas question: "What to give?"

A common cold may turn an honest man into a desperate criminal, says a Detroit physician. Any man with a cold is a menace to society.

See Close Fight For Successor to Speaker Garner

Four Leading Democrats
Already Entered in
Race for Post

Washington—(P)—The powerful post of speaker in the new or 73rd Congress is being actively sought by four leading democrats of varying views.

Another quartet of possible contenders may enter the field before a selection is made at a democratic caucus probably in March. Despite the time remaining before the actual selection, the importance of the post is such that it probably will command much attention at the present session.

The office will be vacated by Speaker John N. Garner on March 4 when he becomes vice president and presiding officer of the senate. Candidates already in the race are Representatives Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, democratic floor leader; Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, chairman of the important appropriations committee; John McDuffie of Alabama, party whip, and John E. Rankin of Mississippi, chairman of the veterans' committee.

Others Seek Post
The possible contenders are Representatives Lindsey C. Warren of North Carolina, chairman of the accounts committee; John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, member of the ways and means committee; John J. O'Connor of New York, and Arthur H. Greenwood of Indiana, both members of the rules group.

Garner was elected speaker a year ago when the democrats seized the house from 12 years of republican control. The Texan was the first democratic speaker since the late Champ Clark of Missouri, who wielded the gavel during the Wilson administrations.

All Are Veterans
Both Rainey and Byrns are veterans of a quarter of a century of service in the house. McDuffie, Rankin and other contenders are all of long time service but entered congress after the world war period.

Coming to congress 28 years ago, Rainey became leader in the present house after establishing a reputation as a student of domestic and international affairs. A large energetic man of 73 years, he is distinguished by his shock of snowy white hair, his ability as a debater and knowledge of tariff and revenue legislation.

Byrns has been elected for his thirteenth term from the sixth Tennessee district. Besides heading the biggest committee in congress, he has been chairman of the democratic national congressional committee for four years.

The Tennesseean, tall and quiet spoken, is reputed to have the best knowledge of governmental expenditures of any member in congress. In debate, he handles himself ably. McDuffie, representing the first Alabama district, has been in con-

Mild weather of the past few days has been drawing large crowds of skaters to the various rinks. Night skating is especially popular this season, hundreds of adults participating in the sport.

Rankin has been a doughty supporter of cash payment of the soldiers' bonus and mutation of currency. He has fought the sales tax. The Mississippian has support in the liberal wing of the party.

Warren has been mentioned as speakership timber because of the manner in which he has presided over the house during trying times in the last session.

O'Connor has been boomed by friends from eastern states. A New England group has suggested McCormack, and several in the Indiana delegation are espousing the cause of Greenwood.

skimming across the ice rinks as early as 6 o'clock in the morning.

There was excellent skating last night on rinks in the First, Third, and Sixth wards. Those ponds were flooded Monday. Others are being reflooded and will be ready by Thursday. It is expected that every rink in the city will be in fine shape by the weekend, when many new pairs of Christmas skates will get their first tryout, according to Theodore Albrecht, street commissioner. Skates which only a few years ago were considered luxuries because they had regulation skating shoes attached to them, are worn by almost all skaters nowadays. The old clamp and screw skates and the more modern "wooden tops" have been cast onto the junk heap and tubular racers have taken their place.

Banks of Appleton Plan Annual Meets

Plans are being made by the officers of the three Appleton banks for the annual meetings of stockholders next month. Stockholders of the First National and Outagamie State banks will meet on the evening of Jan. 10, while the date for the meeting of the stockholders of the Appleton State bank will be set later. At these meetings the officers present their annual reports and directors are elected.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the former Citizen's National bank will be held at the building which formerly housed this institution on Jan. 10. The purpose of this meeting is the reading of the report of the liquidating committee and the transaction of any other business.

Our government should subsidize the theater, says Yeats, the Irish playwright. Then, maybe, troops could be used against those folks who have a habit of interrupting the first act.

SHRUGGING AT DUTY

The Democrats, with the aid of three Progressives in the senate, have served notice on the President that they will not confirm any of his appointments upon the theory that to do so "would embarrass his successor." His successor will be embarrassed a good deal more by having to make the appointments than in finding the offices filled.

We notice that Mr. Hoover continues sending in appointments. He is doing this because it is his duty so to do. He is following the commanding language of the constitution. He has no alternative short of a breach of faith. In failing to confirm or reject upon the merits of the appointments the senate is neglecting the duty placed upon it by the constitution. The harm extends much further than the naming of some judge in New Mexico or a postmaster in Oregon. It sets a bad precedent and indicates a flippant disregard by a majority of the senate of those grave responsibilities that were earnestly put at the door of the senate over 140 years ago and belong there still.

Vacancies demand appointments. The constitution says the President shall appoint. It also says that the appointments shall not become complete without confirmation by the senate. A long and practically unbroken practice has directed that the senate approve unless it finds a legitimate reason against the appointee. But this senate will not even look at the appointee. It will not consider his qualifications. It turns its nose up at the appointments. It should be said that five Progressives, including Borah and Johnson, voted with the regular Republicans, accepting fully their obligations of office. This breach of duty upon the part of the senate, this attempt to sequester positions "for the faithful," or to clip Mr. Hoover of the power still vested with him, is comparable to another disappointing episode in American history where a chief executive, with the connivance of the senate, showed hectic haste and rude disregard for the rights of the incoming President. Says Morse in his "Life of Thomas Jefferson":

"On the evening of March 3, 1801, being the last day of Federalist domination in the United States, the functionaries of the moribund party were busy in a not very reputable way. President Adams was making Federalist nominations to official positions, and sending them into the Senate, which was rapidly confirming them, and the Secretary of State was signing commissions with zealous dispatch. The hour of midnight came upon him while thus employed, and a dramatic tale represents Levi Lincoln, who was to be Attorney-General under Jefferson, walking in with Mr. Jefferson's watch in his hand, and staying this process of office filling precisely at 12 o'clock, though many unsigned commissions still lay on the table."

These midnight appointments have remained in history a shadowy reproach upon President John Adams, a great patriot during the Revolution and when America needed determined men.

Clutching for power is never a pretty nor an attractive procedure. The senate has not raised its dignity or repute in the country by these tactics. It is not merely evading a plain duty but it is deliberately doing so for the purpose of passing the appointments from President Hoover to whom they belong to the incoming President, to whom they do not belong.

TWO SENTENCES

James Verecha, a particularly repulsive bandit killer, although a youth, received a death sentence upon a plea of guilty to murder last week at Chicago.

Barring the ancient dispute about the death penalty, Verecha certainly had earned as extreme a penalty as the law provided. He murdered brutally and needlessly. With the transparent cunning of an animal he simulated insanity, snarling like a beast but pretending indifference to his fate.

And yet there were two other youths some eight years ago, gilded youths, cunning in more than an animal way, who had killed needlessly and brutally too. They received but life sentences, upon a similar plea and in the same city.

Of course there is always the honest personal equation to consider in the enforcement of justice. Loeb and Leopold had a different judge than Verecha and certain sincere differences of opinion must always be expected to naturally influence the final judgment entered.

But with Loeb and Leopold there was wealth, great wealth, a reputed fee of $100,000 to a noted and resourceful criminal lawyer, fat per diems to glib experts who pointed out the difference between tweedledee and tweedledum and located the medulla oblongata out somewhere on 13th Avenue.

When those young men escaped capital punishment a heavy blow was inflicted upon the administration of justice, in spite of the fact that a great many men in humble stations have received even less punishment than they for murder.

Comparisons of this kind naturally bring to the fore the eternal question: If penniless Verecha must die to expiate his vicious crimes why should not Loeb and Leopold receive the same punishment for as deliberate and vicious an offense made doubly inexcusable because of the opportunities life afforded them?

"THE GENTLEMAN FROM LOUISIANA"

Last week Senator Huey Long started a filibuster in the senate—that is he purposely talked against time and clogged still further the slowly moving machinery of the government. He stood on the track and virtually stopped the express for the fun of it. To accomplish this he merely kept the floor and discussed a multitude of things. He told stories, some of them good ones. He recited poetry, some of which might be applied to himself. The verse we have in mind is this:

"When I asked her to wed, 'Go to father,' she said,
And she knew that I knew that her father was dead,
And she knew that I knew what a life he had led,
And she knew that I knew what she meant when she said:
'Go to father!'"

Senator Long appears to have great mental and physical vigor, nor must it be concluded that all his ideas lack virtue merely because he raves and rants a great deal. Even a senator must have exercise.

But the quoted verse has a peculiar personal application to the gentleman from Louisiana. A man like Senator Long makes extremely bitter political enemies just as he often makes warm political friends. Down in Louisiana those who oppose him cannot mention his name without grinding their teeth, and since the Southerner, at least in the presence of ladies, would not care to resort to profanity or even an expletive, "Go to father, Huey" might not be an inappropriate way of referring to the kingfish from the delta of the Mississippi.

NEW RAILWAY DEVELOPMENT

Loss of passenger traffic resulting from economic depression and from the competition of highway bus and automobile, combined with the high costs of maintaining and operating the present expensive types of railway equipment, are forcing railroad management to seek new transportation methods for their salvation.

Press reports have just announced a new type of self-propelled passenger coach engineered by one of the larger Michigan manufacturers challenging present railway methods.

Its novelty lies in combining the features of the railway coach, the automobile, the airplane and even the dirigible, producing a streamline vehicle of extremely light weight and capable of high speed with safety and riding comfort.

The power unit, springs and axles are of automotive design, the streamlining carries the latest principles of airplane construction and the metal used is the same as that used in the Navy's new dirigibles. The car is one-quarter the weight of a modern steel railway coach, though of approximately the same dimensions. It is equipped with the latest in air conditioning devices. Its cost of operation is estimated at less than one-tenth the cost of operating a standard passenger train, while the capital investment is one-twentieth as great.

Modern engineers believe that the answer to the railroads' difficulties lies in the development of light, high speed, single units running at shorter intervals to replace the long, heavy and expensive trains now in use.

Railroads in their rights-of-way possess property of great value, that should give them control of land transportation whenever they are able to reduce their investments in expensive equipment with attending high operating costs to a point commensurate with those of their competitors on the highway and in the air.

Inventors appear to be turning back to the railway industry as a lucrative field, and given equal opportunity in competition, meeting progress with progress through modernization of their equipment, the railroads should be able to meet changing economic conditions and regain their dominant position in the industry of transportation.

Yawning is a distinct benefit to a human being. It tends to restore the equilibrium of the air pressure between the middle ear and the outside air and often produces a feeling of relaxation.

The poetry is terrible, but the streets around town have been so slippery and so dangerous to drive on that we welcome any verse commemorating the improvement.

Leave it to California. The governor is busy signing pardons to free all the state prohibition act violators who wound up in prison in the sunshine-never-rain-louis-roses state. But he decided to get up at midnight to do it and he had the pardons specially printed up so they'd be suitable for framing.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE BEARERS

We were his friends! A month ago
At golf he called us three to play,
And now beneath the silent snow
We put his coffin-form away.
I rather fancy that he knew
This last grim task for him we'd do.

He suffered pain and spoke no word.
Today I heard his widow tell,
Just six months back the news he heard,
That never again would he be well.
And so that very afternoon
We played, he knew he'd leave us soon.

Well, here we are! The final task
Which any friend can do for friend,
On earth no more of us he'll ask.
Yonder's the grave, and 'tis the end,
Except that gallant soul will wait
To meet us when we share his fate.

No paper because of Christmas day.

Opinions of Others

A MAD NEWSPAPER.
Our boys leave the distributing room of La Opinion between the hours of 4 and 5 in the afternoon to make the sales of their papers. Forty or fifty lads devote themselves to this work by means of which they are able to earn daily a sum sufficient for their own support, and in some cases for their families.

We regret to say, however, that there are some people in this community who are so lacking in a sense of charity to these small vendors, and really so destitute of shame and conscience, that they have devised an ingenious method of reading the paper without buying it, and so deprive the newsboy of his sole means of making a humble living. This plan is that of renting the paper. The circumstance that the boy obtains his papers in the afternoon, and is not expected to return unsold copies for credit until the next morning, gives these "leasers" of periodicals ample time to digest all the printed information they desire. The newsboys really have no alternative these days about consenting to the arrangement, for, in many instances, they must either "rent" their papers, or obtain no remuneration at all, so many of the public are refusing to buy copies, though they can well afford to do so.

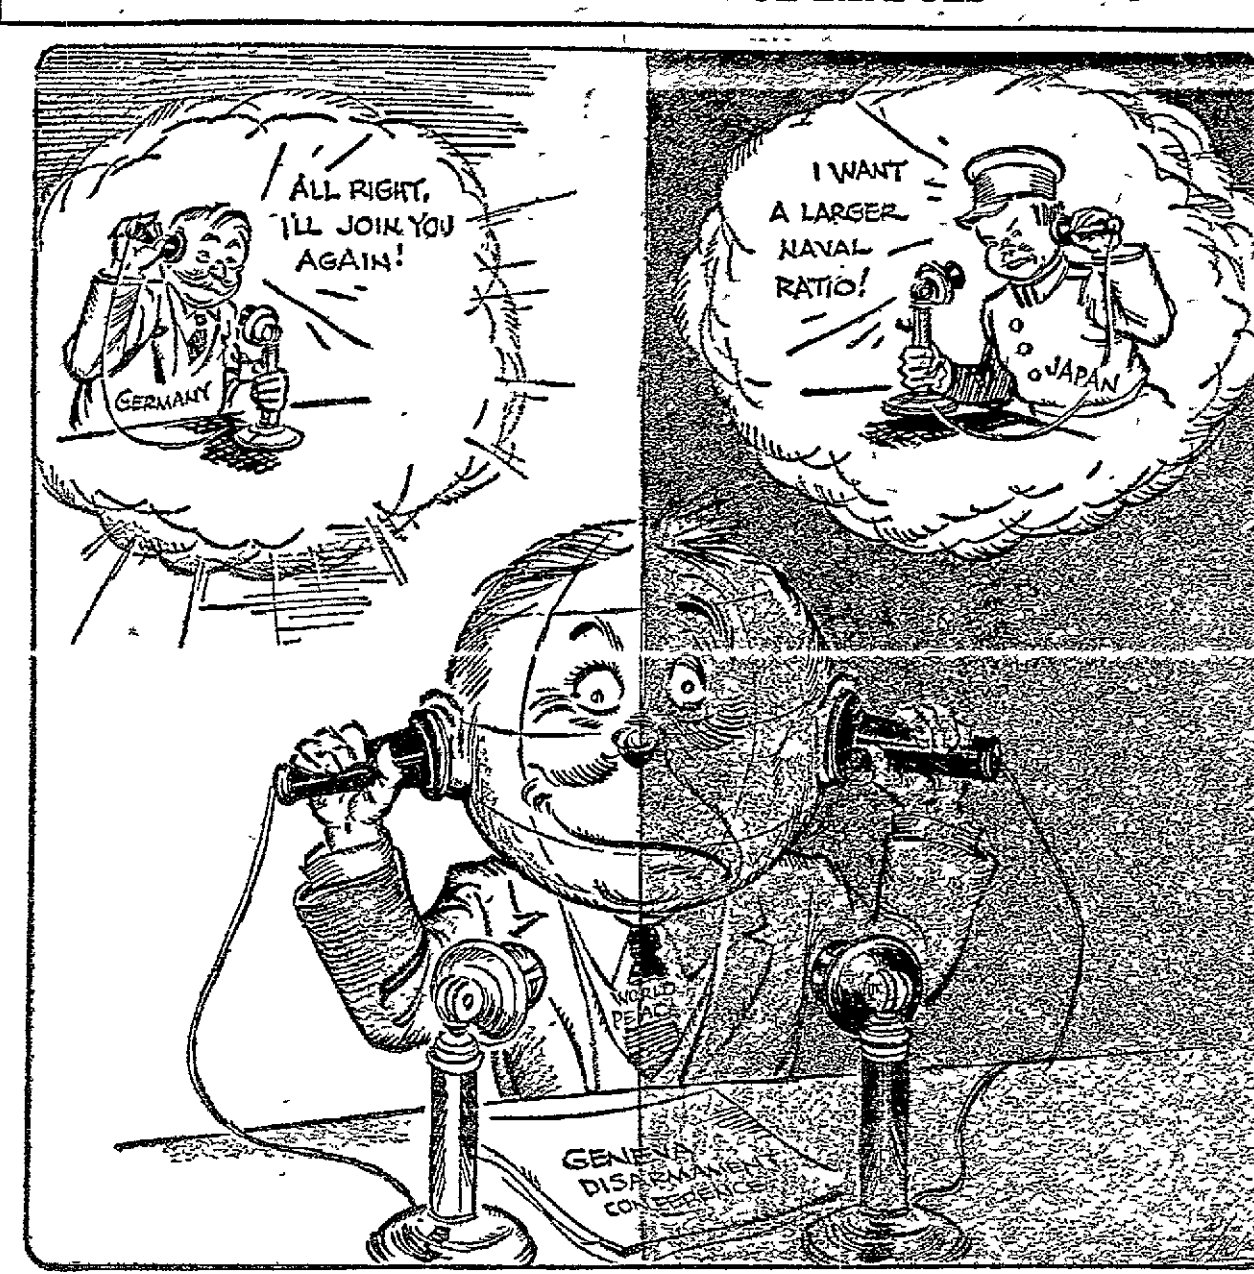

In our opinion, and no doubt in that of other newspaper publishers, this is a detestable, if not a criminal practice. It interferes drastically with business and tends to demoralize youth. The boys naturally prefer a return of one centavo on each copy to no sale, and the unblushing clientele who can well afford to invest in a newspaper daily retain the other four centavos in their miserly pockets.

Unless we are able to abolish this reprehensible custom within the immediate future, we shall refuse to offer our periodical for sale through any retail dealers. Then those that desire to know what is transpiring not only in Santo Domingo and in the republic, but throughout the world as well, will have to peruse copies on file at our office, and we can assure these parasitical niggards that they shall pay much more for the opportunity of thus keeping abreast of the times than the pitiful centavos they should now pay the newsboy for a copy of La Opinion.—La Opinion (Santo Domingo)

CHEERFUL AND TEARFUL EARFULS

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

A GOOD CURE FOR NERVES

Our nervous readers—may their number decrease—will find this report interesting or irritating, according to the character of their nervousness.

Let some nervous reader misunderstand perhaps we had better briefly classify all cases of "nerves," "weak nerves," "neurasthenia," "nervous exhaustion" or "nervous breakdown." First are the neuroticists, that is, persons who plead "weak nerves" as the excuse or alibi for their selfish sinful or criminal conduct. Second are the misguided victims of all sorts of functional and organic maladies who drift along on their own or maybe some quackish doctor's diagnosis of "just nerves." In both classes one finds many individuals who take advantage of the ignorance of their friends and especially their relatives who put up with a lot of ill-behavior on the part of the "nervous wreck" out of a false sentiment of sympathy.

That's my attitude on the "nervous" obsession or racket, and those who are practicing nervous imposition on the world or their intimate friends or relatives need not waste any sarcasm on me in reference to my coldblooded view, for I think I've heard about all the changes the neuroticists can whine in justification of their little scheme for easing thru life at the expense of the gullible folk around them.

Every little while some victim of a quackish diagnosis of "nerves" or "nervous exhaustion" writes in to thank me for having jolted him out of it and given him a healthy desire to find out what really ailed him. This leads to a change of doctors and a thorough physical examination just as the no one ever imagined the patient was "nervous." Thus the actual trouble may be discovered and proper treatment instituted and health restored.

Here's a former victim of "nerves" who suggests a cure which I believe would clear up thousands of such cases if we could only persuade the "nervous" ones to take it: "You surely hit the nail on the head when you say 'nerves' are an alibi."

Two years ago I had such shaky "nerves" that I thought I was going insane. But here I am still sound in body and mind. I was always looking for sympathy and finding fault with every little thing . . . But I had two children to take care of and I knew just what would happen to them if I went away on a rest cure or entered a hospital. The first time I read your view of "nerves" I was hurt and angry.

So now whenever I feel I am getting nervous I open up the wash tub and start rubbing away my nerves. That's a good cure. You forget your nerves when you have to wash some pretty dirty suits and dresses for your children. Saves doctor bills, too. I say "Hurrah for Dr. Brady." The main drawback about this cure, in the eyes of the worst sufferers, is that you have to have some children to work for. When children come nervous imposition is not so easy as it is in the childless household.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
The Giant Treatment game Has gland treatment the property of giving long life and greater vitality or vigor . . . (M. L.)

Answer—No. That's just a racket of quacks and nostrum mongers. Resorcin Stains Gray Hair Reddish Brown

No doubt you know your dandruff remedy leaves a brown stain and therefore is a boon to those who have some gray or white hairs mixed with the black or brown . . . (Mrs. C. H. J.)

Answer—Yes, but light blond hair does not look much better when so stained. That is the one drawback about applying the dandruff remedy—a solution of 10 grains of resorcin in the ounce of alcohol, witch hazel extract, toilet water or bay rum.

How to Think

Suggestions on rules on training the brain to think quickly and clearly? My game requires that I think with speed. I am an athlete. (J. W.)

Answer—Take good care of your general health and hygiene and your brain will be at its best. Too frequently in professional or quasi-professional athletics this is ignored. (Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE elf who stood beneath the gate to Santa Land cried, "This is great! You lads, I know, are Tynmites. You called on us last year. If you have come to lend a hand, old Santa Claus will think that's grand. There's plenty that you all can do, 'cause we're real busy here."

"Of course you know that Christmas Day is not so very far away. And think of all the girls and boys who want things Christmas morn. 'We'll have to work both night and day to get things cleared out of our way. You lads will enjoy being here, as sure as you are born."

"Of course we will," said Scouty. "We have journeyed to this place to see what's going on. And now we know. We'll gladly go to work."

"Old Santa is a real good friend. On all of us he can depend. When we sail in, we'll promise you that none of us will shrink."

The pilot of their airship cried, "I'm glad I brought you on your ride. You seem real tickled that you're here, so everything's all right."

"All right," the elf said, "Come with me and Santa Claus you'll shortly see. He's working in a toy shop, but he'll stop to say hello. 'Some new, fine helpers he won't mind. In fact he will be pleased, you'll find. He'll teach you how to work on toys until he's sure you know.'"

They reached the toy shop and walked in. There stood old Santa, with a grin. "Ahl Welcome, Tynmites," said he. "Old friends I never forget."

"Last year you called, and helped me then. Now you are here to help again. I hope it will be fun and that you'll have your best time yet" (Copyright, 1932 NEA Service, Inc.) (The Tynies out down Christmas trees in the next story.)

NEED TONS OF GAS
Chicago—Airplanes flying the coast to coast route do not measure their mileage "to a gallon." They figure out the mileage "to a ton." One company's ten-motored planes use about 2500 gallons, or seven and a half tons of gasoline in the cross-country run. The single-engine mail planes burn about 825 tons of gas on the trip.

RAY FOR CANCER
Philadelphia—The discovery of a new ray was reported to the American Chemical Society by Dr. Ellis McDonald and A. J. Allen, of the cancer research laboratories of the University of Pennsylvania. This ray, which consists of ultra-violet light rays, is believed to be of great value in the treatment of deep bacterial infection and in the study of cancer.

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—If any of those hundreds lucky enough to get a seat in either senate or house galleries on the opening day of the "lame duck" session expected to see well-begone expressions on the faces of last November casualties, they went away disappointed.

They were conspicuously absent. If the old-timers, even those who have spent virtually their whole careers "on the bill," are downcast at the drubbing they received a month or so ago they manage to conceal it very well indeed.

Jim Watson of Indiana, for instance, on opening day perhaps never lived more up to his title of "Sunny Jim." He was one of the first to arrive on the senate floor and the typical "Watsonesque" back-slapping and shoulder-draping had lost none of its fervor.

Watson took the few sly jibes at him in the best of humor and returned them in the same fashion.

Smoot Cheerful
Read "Smoot of Utah, clean of the senate, habitually serious and reserved, seemed more cheerful than usual. These are the last days of something close to 30 years "on the hill" for Smoot.

Smoot roamed the floor before the vice president's gavel fell opening the session, cordially shaking hands with his colleagues and exchanging pleasantries.

Vice President Curtis, humorously dubbed by some colleagues the "lamest duck of them all," because, they explain, he was "retired by the whole country" instead of a state or congressional district, was in good form. He is presiding over what in all probability is his last congress—participating in his last session of the senate in any form.

He met all with a smile, found time to chuckle a bit at the humor of old friends.

House is Busy
In the house the kidding was a bit more severe and open, but everybody seemed to have a good time. The congressmen, for one thing, were so interested in that vote on prohibition which was to come later on think of much else.

But they did do a little joshing in good-natured fashion at their more unfortunate brethren as they milled around before the gavel fell.

Barbs
Washington's famous cherry trees won't blossom until spring, but Democrats expect plums to be ready for picking thereabout as early as March 4.

Under Premier Mussolini's amnesty proposal, Italy's political prisoners will be freed on their promise to accept the Fascist regime "as an accomplished fact." Prisoners, after all, could hardly argue with that conclusion.

In 500 years population will be so large says a doctor, that there hardly will be standing room for mankind. What a chance for street car conductors!

Putting friendly advice together, the cheapest way to cure a cold is to buy a drug store.

Maybe fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong—but they can manage to look like it to one hundred million Americans.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—Noel Coward, whose airy, sophisticated touch has sparkled in many a comedy, denies he has gone serious. Despite the pedantic weighing of his colossal pageant, "Cavalcade," he professes to be apathetic toward causes.

This seasonal visitor from England says he has no "mission" as a playwright and can't work himself into a feverish excitement in support of or in opposition to any reform, movement or what-not. He thinks comedy is the more difficult and fascinating medium and has no ambition to quit entirely for the heavy stuff.

I asked him if he burned with any patriotic zeal when he wrote "Cavalcade," which set the British lion to prancing with majestic pride. "I did not," answered Mr. Coward (who, it has been hinted, may be made a "Sir"). "Cavalcade" merely is the study of a certain gallantry" and so on.

Coward does love his country and he supports the crown. He thinks royalty and all its trappings, and all of the tradition of England are essential to the Englishman's contentment and security. But, as he explains it: "It's not a sort of jingoism that makes the Englishman that way. It's just a tenderness for the old."

The point he made was that he had no intention of being a public relations counsel for the empire, puffing its glory.

Coward On Hollywood
Nor has the fact that the movie rights to "Cavalcade" went to an American company caused him the slightest loss of sleep.

He appears pleased that so many players from England were assembled to help do the job, but thinks Hollywood can hold up its end very well. He won't even have final approval of the picture before its release.

Coward, who seems able to do just about everything in the theater, is tremendously interested in Hollywood. But he won't go there right soon. That is, to act.

He told me he discussed his acting prospects with certain of our movie powers, but he believes that while his appearance might be "helpful" to the movies in New York, the rest of the country doesn't know enough about him.

"But later on—? Later on, perhaps. Naturally, Coward would require a heavy wage to act in the movies. If the rest of the country comes to know him well enough to warrant his taking such a wage—and the movie makers paying it—that ought to be all that's necessary."

New Year's For Actors
Mabel Taliaferro drops in to tell of grand plans for the Actors' Dinner club ball on New Year's eve—which surely sounds like one of the most elaborate public functions to be staged here in many a moon.

It should be elaborate, considering the price they've got on tickets!

But, after all, the actors never balked at the cost w— it came to helping out anybody else. Now the problem is to feed many hundreds of unemployed among them.

Mahatma Gandhi seems to be getting into the bad habit of starving between fasts.

This year, at cotton cost, you can give PURE SILK PAJAMAS $5.95

The silk market went all to smash and didn't stop. Our manufacturers cabled . . . conferred and connived to produce this pure thread silk pajama at this price.

You've never seen nor has he slept in anything so fine for the money and if hundreds of men don't wake up Christmas morning with the desire to go back to bed, it will be because nobody read this adv. or came to see this remarkable value.

In Blue, Emerald, Wine and Peach. And every thread is silk.

Beer Bill Is Sure to Have Congress O.K.

Moderates See Chance to Postpone Action on Prohibition Repeal

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Beer of 4 per cent volume appears to be a legislative certainty irrespective of President Hoover's position, though, to be sure, there is no assurance that he will veto the proposal.

Wets and dries concede that some change in the existing situation on prohibition is essential and while some of the latter still respect that strict enforcement is the solution together with proper public respect for law, the moderates who are thinking of prohibition from a broad point of view see in the beer bill a chance to retain federal prohibition and postpone indefinitely the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

To put it another way, the dries have a very critical choice to make. If the beer bill is defeated or vetoed and then fails to pass over the presidential veto, the momentum behind repeal of the eighteenth amendment will be intensified at once. The first business of the extra session will be to get the repeal amendment voted on and it is apparent now that while the repeal amendment will require some modification to get through the senate the next congress will put it on its way to the states.

If, on the other hand, a beer bill has been passed and the country is ahead of it the prospect of an experiment with legalized beer, the dry forces will have an opportunity to appeal to the public to await the outcome of the beer legislation before committing itself to anything else.

Another factor in the situation is the need for revenue. The dries have had several desertions from their ranks in congress because of the wide-spread belief that the federal deficit can be materially cut down by beer taxes. Some of the dries dispute this vigorously but realize just the same that so long as tax reduction is held out as an inducement to vote for beer it will be a political threat to many a member of congress who is expected to help reduce the income tax burden.

Extremists Firm
What should dry strategy be under the circumstances? It is evident that the extremists among the dries who have been dominant will not want to yield an inch in the controversy. Many of them would prefer to lose valiantly in what they regard as a great cause than to compromise. But the middle-of-the-road groups feel that the tide is sweeping against prohibition and that the country wants a change of some kind. To refuse to yield might mean the loss of all the ground which the prohibitionists feel has been gained since the eighteenth amendment was adopted especially the body of judicial decisions and interpretations which have sought to regulate the liquor traffic.

There are many members of congress who are ready to fight for an amendment to the repeal resolution. They want the saloon protected and dry states made immune from invasion against their will. They are preparing even in the next congress to fight unqualified repeal and they have hopes of blocking it in the senate. This group is for the most part ready to concede the enactment of a beer bill now would be wise and expedient.

WAS A FIRM BELIEVER IN WITCHES.

THE JAPANESE gardener develops his cherry trees for beauty. Grace of line, and delicacy of texture and color are worked for . . . not only in the blossoms, but in the leaves, branches and bark.

NEXT: What was the original purpose of bull fighting?

How can a dry justify a vote of a 4 per cent beer bill? The answer is that apart from the revenues needed and the disposition of the Democrats to delay balancing the budget till they find out what beer taxes will bring, the issue is one which the courts may have to pass upon. A dry might say to his constituents that he voted for the measure to expedite it toward judicial determination.

It has been reported that if Mr. Hoover signed a beer bill, he would do so on the same general principle, namely that the power of congress to fix the alcoholic content beyond the point which had previously been considered non-intoxicating should once and for all be determined by the courts.

With several dries in both houses leaning toward a vote in favor of a beer bill and the wets solidly for it, the chances of beer legislation at this session are bright. And incidentally if it passes the congress will have an opportunity to experiment by statute with the problem of preventing the return of the old fashioned saloon—at least until the repeal of modification of the eighteenth amendment settles whether congress or the states are to take care of that police job.

Find Little Milk Or Cream Is Used By Rural People

Surveys Reveal Children On Farms Drink More Coffee and Tea

BY W. F. WINSEY
Inquiries addressed to the heads of milk assembling plants in several townships of northeastern Wisconsin prove that only a small amount of milk and cream is being consumed on the farms. The main reason for the low consumption of milk is that farmers do not wish to be bothered with the carrying milk from the coolers to the kitchens each morning and that children drink coffee, it is said. The reason given for the limited use of cream on the farms is that farmers are compelled to pay city prices for cream and only a very few do any skimming themselves.

Votes taken recently in the schools of two counties showed that the milk drinkers in the schools ranged from 5 to 12 per cent of the entire number of pupils. The balance of the pupils were coffee and tea drinkers. Milk drinking campaigns conducted by the home economics extension service of the college of agriculture, has converted large numbers of coffee drinking pupils of the rural schools into milk drinkers.

"Among the counties that have had county-wide campaigns to promote the use of milk and dairy products are Columbia, Dane, Door, Dunn, Eau Claire, Jefferson, Kewaunee, LaCrosse, Mil-

Prepare Plan to Solve Loan Issue

Hope to Work Out Pro- posal for Action by State Legislature

Madison—(P)—The committee appointed by the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture to prepare legislation looking toward an adjustment of farm and home mortgages came to Madison today for its first meeting. Members of the committee are Senator-elect B. J. Gehrmann of Mellen, chairman of the council; Herman Ihde, Neenah, secretary, and William Hutter, Spring Green, vice president of the cheese federation. The meeting was to be held late today.

While it has been agreed that some kind of a bill will be presented to the 1933 legislature the committee is undetermined what the nature of the legislation will be. It has been given two proposals.

One is to set up governmental machinery through which mortgages on farms and homes may be adjusted to avoid foreclosures. There is considerable doubt as to the constitutionality of such an arrangement. The second plan is to adopt the voluntary system used in Iowa where committees were appointed in each county to conduct discus-

Charity Ball Next Week at Country Club

ALL PROCEEDS of the charity ball to be sponsored by the King's Daughters next Tuesday night at North Shore Country club, will be turned over to the milk dispensary fund of the organization. The milk dispensary, which was organized this fall, with the cooperation of the Appleton Pure Milk company, opened on Thanksgiving day at Salvation Army headquarters, and gives out between 1,800 and 2,000 quarts of milk and 400 pounds of cottage cheese each month.

Each family given a card for milk is investigated thoroughly and, if deserving, is given an adequate supply of pasteurized bottled milk of high test. People getting milk may pay whatever they are able. Cottage cheese is given on Fridays and bread is given on a few days each week.

This work will be continued as long as funds are available. Mrs. J. P. Frank is receiving donations. Founded in 1885.

The Order of King's Daughters was founded in the United States in 1885, and has grown until it is now international. It is non-sectarian, and its aim is to give help and cheer to those in need.

The Infant Welfare Circle of King's Daughters was organized in Appleton Oct. 16, 1923, by a group of women interested in doing welfare work. A year and a half later, a second circle, the Community Comfort Circle, was formed. Each circle supported itself by its own resources and each followed its own program of work. In 1929 the first charity ball was held at Cinderella ballroom on Dec. 27. It was sponsored jointly by the two circles and met with signal success. In 1930 both circles felt that divided they could work only on a small scale, but that the potential resources of 36 women, if the circles joined, would be almost unlimited. The two circles merged on Oct. 28, 1930, and became known as Appleton King's Daughters.

Present officers of the organization are Mrs. James Bergstrom, Neenah, president; Mrs. P. A. Paulson, first vice president; Mrs. Arthur Wakeman, second vice president; Mrs. Helen Pelkey, secretary; Mrs. Edward Brand, assistant secretary; Mrs. Carlsson Saecker, treasurer; and Mrs. J. N. Fisher, assistant treasurer. Mrs. J. H. Marston and Mrs. J. P. Frank are members of the executive board from the organization at large.

The executive board consists of all officers and two members at large. One general meeting a month is held, most of the work being done by committees and the executive board.

Foundation Created. Appleton Foundation, a corporation which has the right to receive and dispense gifts of money which may be donated, was created shortly after the two circles merged. The foundation is unbiased and non-sectarian. The first gift to the foundation was an endowment of $15,000 for a maternity free bed in St. Elizabeth hospital by Appleton King's Daughters. All money earned by the two circles in the past was put into this fund.

In addition to the milk dispensary, one of the projects of the King's Daughters is the resale shop. This shop is stocked and run entirely through the efforts of the members and not only furnishes an income for the organization but makes it possible for people to obtain clothing and other necessities at a low cost so that they do not have to depend on charity.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the charity ball next Tuesday includes Mrs. Karl Stansbury, chairman; Mrs. P. A. Paulson, Mrs. William Wing, Jr., Mrs. William Buchanan, Mrs. Arthur Wakeman, Appleton; Mrs. John Sanderbrunner and Mrs. James Bergstrom, Neenah.

Santa Claus Gives Gifts to Children

About 60 members of Women's Catholic Order of Foresters and juveniles attended the supper and Christmas party Tuesday night at Catholic home. A covered dish supper was served after which Santa Claus appeared and distributed gifts and Christmas stockings filled with candy, nuts, and fruit to each juvenile and gifts to the adults. A number of the children sang songs, danced, and gave piano selections.

Following Santa's visit, the adults were entertained at cards and the children were taken to the Fox theatre. Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Stanley Staidl and Mrs. R. G. Van Susteren, and prizes at schafkopf went to Mrs. J. B. Letter and Mrs. F. Haberman.

Students Returning to Homes for Christmas

THE annual trek of Appleton students to their homes from schools in various parts of the country began last week, and every train and bus brings more of them home for the two week vacation from classroom routine and mid-night oil.

Among those who come from a distance are Miss Mary Alsted, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Alsted, 735 E. South-st., a student at Baldwin school, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; Miss Marjorie Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jacobson, 727 E. Franklin-st., who is a first year student at Ward Belmont school, Nashville, Tenn.; and Richard Pfeiffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pfeiffer, 5 Washington-st., and Emmett Mortell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Mortell, 301 S. State-st., students at Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind. Pfeiffer is a member of the Notre Dame football squad. George and Carl Baldwin, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Baldwin, 707 S. State-st., will arrive the latter part of the week from Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

Gordon Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. C. Walker, 106 E. Lawrence-st., is home from Lake Forest Academy, Lake Forest, Ill. Many from U. W.

The University of Wisconsin, always a generous contributor to the holiday homecoming in Appleton, again has a number of students bound for their homes here. They include Leo Schiebler, son of Charles Schiebler, 1122 W. Spencer-st., Harvey Kranhold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kranhold, 1444 W. Prospect-ave, and a member of the football team at Wisconsin; Thomas Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Ryan, 703 S. Memorial-dr.; James Neller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Neller, 410 E. Peerenboom, 332 W. Eighth-st., who is doing post-graduate work at the University this year. The latter will have as his guest for Christmas, Dan Sutter of New Jersey, a student in the chemical engineering school at the University.

From Marquette University at Milwaukee come Stephen Konz, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Konz, 606 N. Oneida-st., and William Hegner, son of Dr. and Mrs. George T. Hegner, 722 S. State-st.

Return From Rosary Katherine Fountain, daughter of William Fountain, 620 W. Fifth-st.; Ramona Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ryan, 703 S. Memorial-dr.; Helen McGrath, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. McGrath, 429 W. Sixth-st.; Esther Plant, niece of Miss Maud McGinty, 125 N. Rankin-st.; and Myrtle Beelen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Beelen, route 3, Appleton, will arrive from Rosary college, River Forest, Ill. this evening. Bernice Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Gage, 420 W. Fifth-st., and Mary and Margaret Plank, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Plank, 340 W. Prospect-ave, students at Mount Mary college, Milwaukee, will spend the holidays with their parents.

Polly Smiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Smiley, 132 N. Green Bay-st., will arrive the latter part of the week from Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., and Josephine Buchanan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Buchanan, 1005 E. College-ave, will be home from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., where she is working for her M. A. degree in speech.

A group of Appleton students at La Crosse State Teachers' college returned to their homes last week for a two weeks' holiday. Among them are Robert and Helen Kunz, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kunz, 114 W. Washington-st.; Helen Dengel, daughter of Mrs. Anna Dengel, 229 W. College-ave; Evelyn Ingenthron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Ingenthron, 617 N. Rankin-st.; and Ruth Gillette, daughter of Mrs. A. Gillette, 1121 N. Morrison-st.

Younger Girls A large number of younger girls will arrive Friday from St. Mary Springs Academy, Fond du Lac, to spend the holidays in Appleton. Among them are Katherine Steinberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Steinberg, 523 N. Durkee-st.; Constance and Mary Flanagan, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Flanagan, route 2, Appleton; Laura Carroll, who will spend the vacation with Mrs. E. F. Carroll, 545 N. Appleton-st.; Jane Virginia Tomske, niece of Mrs. F. J. Kobussen, 825 W. Fourth-st.; Marion Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jacobs, 308 E. Harrison-st.; Frances Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Barrett, 1123 N. Mason-st.; and Elizabeth Dohr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Dohr, 303 E. So. River-st.

Marcus McGinty, nephew of Miss Maud McGinty, 125 N. Rankin-st., Allen Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, W. Summer-st.; and Leo Spicer, State-st., will arrive from St. Norbert college, West De Pere, and Ivan Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, will be home from the Illinois School of Chiropractic, Chicago.

For Delta Chapter

Members and children of Delta chapter, Employes Mutual Benefit association, will be entertained at a Christmas party Thursday afternoon at Odd Fellow hall. There will be a short business meeting at 8:30 and the program will begin at 9 o'clock. Santa Claus and a Christmas tree will add to the Yuletide spirit.

Those who will sing songs on the program are June Fumal, Dorothy Nissen, Evelyn and Genevieve Rath, and Joyce Coley, recitations will be given by Elsie and Donald Ernst, Mary Jane Waters, and Marjorie Vanderlinden, and instrumental selections will be presented by Dolores and Arnold Van Dinter, Walter Nissen, and Jane Montgomery.

WINS LIKE AN ANGEL

Paris—Man's wish to have wings like an angel may come true some day. Dr. Magnan of the College of France and Dr. Sainte-Lague of the Conservatory of Crafts have been working on a new theory on wings for man. They are convinced by their research, that some day man will fly by his own power on wings of his own making.

with FLU in the air . . don't take chances with COLDS! . . .

WITH flu in the community, everyone is warned against the dangers of colds just now. Colds pull down body resistance, and often pave the way for an attack of flu and its serious complications. In the present emergency, the wise course to follow is that outlined in Vicks Plan for better Control of Colds:

To Prevent Many Colds: At that first feeling of stuffiness or nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze—Nature's usual warning that a cold is coming on—use Vicks Nose & Throat Drops, the new aid in preventing colds. Vicks Drops aid Nature in throwing off the infection that threatens. They prevent development of many colds.

To End a Cold Sooner: If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, vigorous measures are necessary. At bedtime, apply Vicks VapoRub. Its direct, double action—continuing through the night—brings quicker relief. During the day, use the convenient Vicks Nose Drops every few hours as needed. They add to comfort—help shorten the cold.

Gift Lists May Include Beauty Aids

BY ELSIE PIERCE
MORE ideas for the festive gift list. I've searched for an extensive list of suggestions, and am passing them right on to readers. You're bound to find something for someone among these treasures.

Compacts; single, double, triple; compacts, thin and compacts bulky; compacts tiny or large as pancakes (the generous ones Mother used to make); compacts plain and compacts fancy—there's no end to the variety of these. Every woman has one, or if she hasn't, wants one. For they make a definite appeal to feminine vanity. Equipped with enough money pieces and a knowledge of the taste of the individual for whom the compact is intended, that's all you need. Success is pre-ordained. For compact creators have outsmarted themselves, such is the keen competition in the field.

There are wafer thin compacts with powder in cake form or in sifter or loose in a compartment to itself. These powder holders are for the woman who uses no other make-up or prefers to keep her powder separate from all else. Similar compacts for rouge alone. Doubles have rouge and powder, the latter in cake or sifter form (most women are getting away from the cake powder). Then the triple compacts with lipstick or lip rouge in addition to cheek rouge and powder.

The pancake powder holders have been popular for some time. They come equipped with soft puff, also piece of buckram through which the powder sifts. Really beautiful ones can now be had for a "song." Many stores include the monogram to make it more personal.

Magnifying Mirrors
The magnifying mirrors so important to successful make-up and so expensive a few years ago can now be had at a most moderate price. Beauties they are, and they do a big bit of magnifying her beauty.

A set of scales for bedroom or bathroom will help her keep her figure in trim.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

FAMILY OBLIGATIONS?

Dear Mrs. Post, What in general are the social obligations of a young single girl to her family. I mean, does a young girl, living at home with parents, owe them anything in a social way in so far as her men and girl friends, her entertainments, her going out, her amusements, are concerned? A girl living in an earlier generation was dependent on her parents in a financial way, which the girl today is often not. And it is this last girl that I am thinking of. Are there not responsibilities to her home, which etiquette exacts while she remains there, single?

Answer: This question resolves itself into one of consideration of the parents for their daughter and of the daughter for her parents, which can best be achieved by kindness of attitude and affection on the part of all concerned. I can give you rules such as that a girl should, if possible, be encouraged to see her friends at home and that she should be able to make her own engagements without being held accountable for a detailed report on where she went, how long she stayed, whom she saw and what they said. (She is far more likely to tell them if not questioned.) On her side she must of course realize that she is in her parents' house and treat them as though they were her host and hostess and not as though they were the landlord or the housekeeper. But as I said, this is all an adjustment of affection, which is something that has flowered since her babyhood or for some reason wilted—or even perished. The only advice I can think of is that each should seek to be appreciative of the situation of the other, and to be fair!

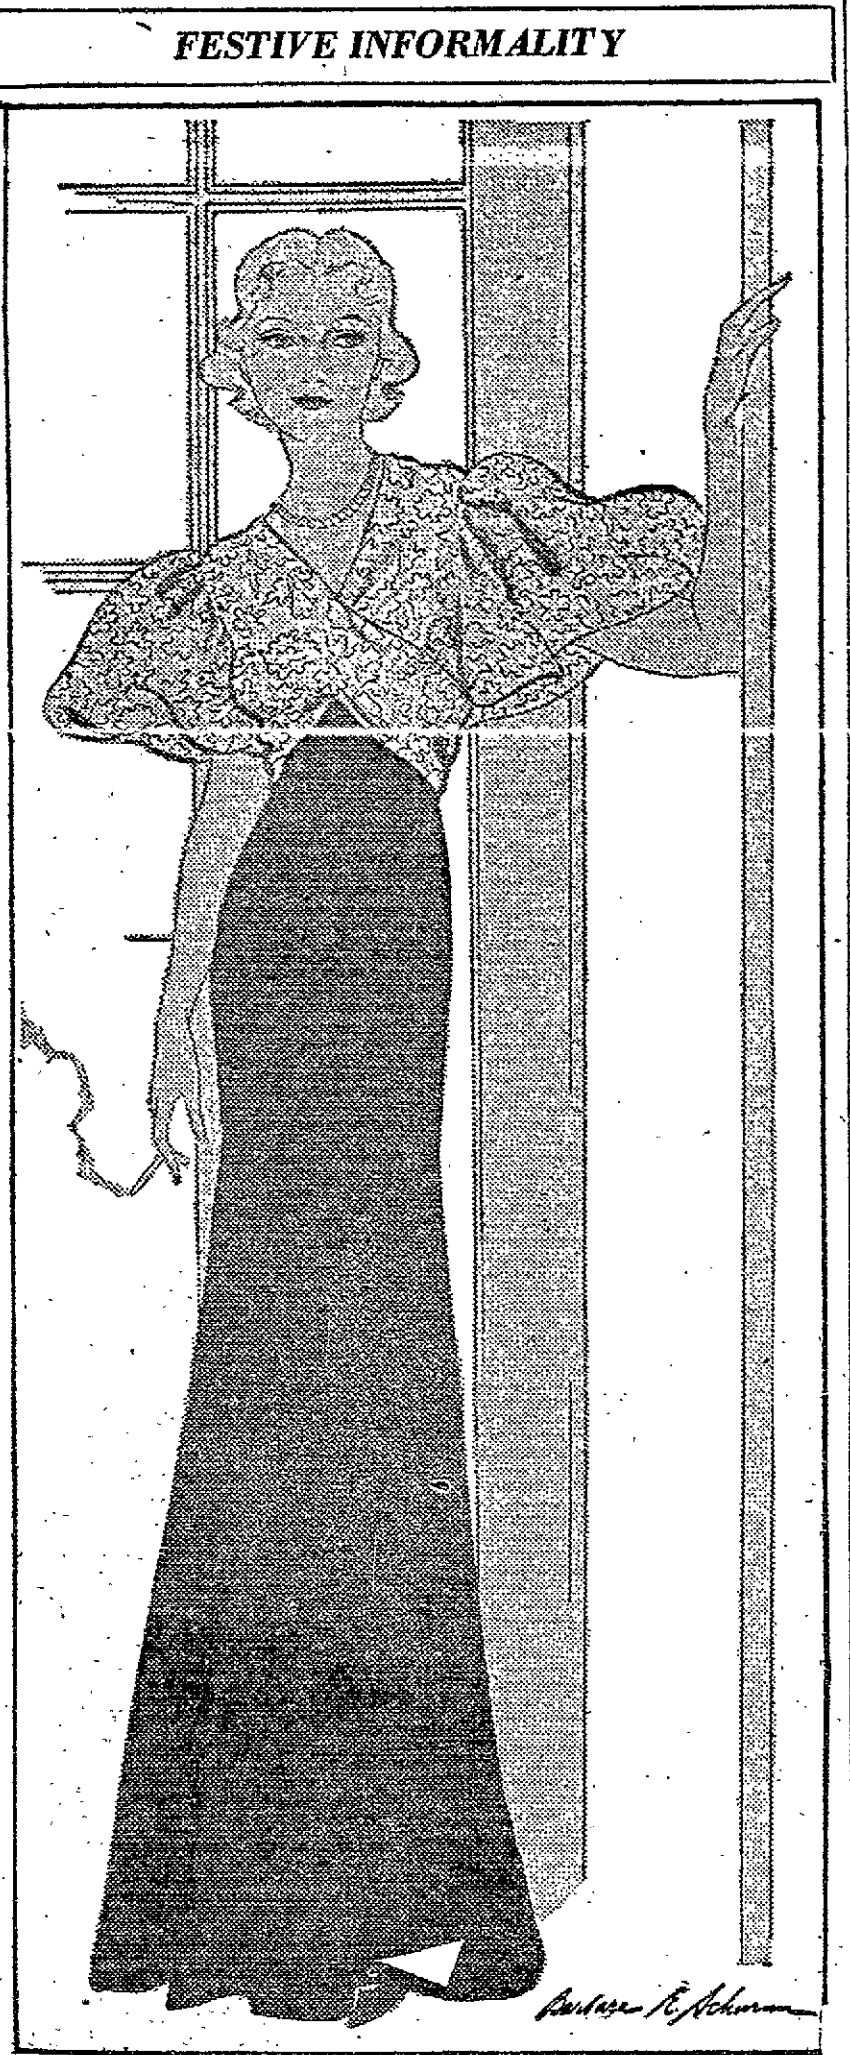

Answer: If her mother-in-law does the housework herself, the natural impulses of a really fine lady would be to take part of the work as her share. Having married into a house, it is her duty to adapt herself to its requirements, whatever they may be, to the best of her ability, it is also her mother-in-law's duty to be reasonable and kind.

FESTIVE INFORMALITY

BY JOAN SAVOY
New dinner dresses and dresses for informal Christmas parties have a way of incorporating the dinner-jacket idea into their making. They flatter a girl no end, because the skirts usually are black or brown or blue crepe or other plain material, and the little short or long-sleeved jackets are rich, fancy fabrics.

Whatever your figure, this type of Christmas informal party dress is likely to put you in a festive mood. For these is something handsome about them and at the same time they become most women. The trick to these dresses is to have ravishing material for the jacket-bloise. And rather simple neck-

Skill and Luck Makes Unbeatable Combination

BY ELY CULBERTSON
There is one unbeatable combination in Contract Bridge, just as in any other sport. When luck and skill are combined, that side which has both of these qualities working for it is almost certain to come out on the plus end of the score. In other words, if your technique in playing the Dummy is above the average and, in addition, the distribution of the opponents' cards is favorable, you will find the key to the making of many a seemingly impossible contract.

The hand below was played at a New York club recently:

1—Technically North has not the playing strength to raise the partner's heart bid. However, with 2 honor-tricks, he considers the hand a little too strong to be content with merely responding with one notrump.

2—This second Raise by North is not justified. However, he bids three hearts chiefly to prevent the opponents from obtaining a part-score.

3—Although holding a minimum hand as far as honor strength is concerned, South has a fair distribution plus some strong intermediates and decides to contract for game after his partner's second Raise.

West opened the spade Knave, which took the trick. The Ten was now led, the King being played from Dummy and South ruffing. South now immediately took the

THE STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

NOT until the door closed in Dr. Raynor's office—not until a shadow fell across the floor, did Ruth turn.

"Oh-h-h!" The word was tremulous. She came back to reality sharply then. "Oh, Dale, I'm so glad you came! The wedding isn't taking place."

Ruth's wide, dark eyes were on her husband's face. She was begging him to understand. But he wouldn't. No man would, of course. Or would a woman have understood had she found her husband kissing the girl he used to like. Ruth knew. She was aware that Dale Courtney made a move toward the door, as she looked up. He would have slipped away unnoticed.

"I'm sorry, old man. It was all my fault," Joe Raynor spoke up quickly. "I still have a sentimental jag on about your wife. And it got the best of me. She was rather powerless. I can swear that she hasn't the slightest interest in my direction."

"You see—," Ruth wanted to explain but she didn't quite know how to explain. After all, Joe had told the truth.

"Yes, it isn't complimentary to Joe's enamoring ways," she began lightly, "but it happens to be true. Sally, you see—"

"I just came from the hospital. Sally wanted me to bring a message to Dr. Raynor. She wanted to see you." He turned and moved towards the door.

"I'm going with you, Dale," Ruth said. There was something unbending in his broad shoulders. Something determined in the quick stride.

She loved him, madly and devotedly. He couldn't doubt her—not after the weeks that they had spent together, the wandering they had done in quaint, far places, the wisps of new moons and the orange balloons of old moons that had shown on the beaches and roads where they had lingered. He couldn't, couldn't!

Very courteously, very formally, Dale held the door for her.

"Dale, don't!" Ruth said suddenly when they were in the car.

"I don't believe I was doing anything," he answered. His chin was stubborn.

"Don't act like that. Joe doesn't love Sally. Sally had intuition enough to sense it—anybody could have, I guess—I was being dumb and thinking that maybe there was a spark there enough to start a romance, or something. And Joan took me there to hunt for the other locket to prove to Sally that Joe did love her. You aren't listening!"

"You aren't listening!" Ruth reproached him again when he didn't answer.

"I'm sorry, I'm listening very attentively." The words were too courteous.

"You aren't but I'll go on. I gave Joe that locket last night. I asked him to pretend that he had saved the one Sally gave him. The two were alike. But Sally found my initials—"

"And Joan felt sorry for Sally and decided that the real trinket had to be found, so you and she went there to hunt, then changed your minds. And because you felt so sorry for the bridegroom—"

"He's an old friend and I'm not any more sentimental about him than I am about a lamp post. Dale you know it. Why, I couldn't be. Didn't I marry you instead of him?"

"But you can't quite let him go, evidently," Dale reminded her, still curiously aloof.

"I can! I don't ever want to see him again. I don't even like him."

All of a sudden she remembered something.

club finesse, and when West covered he played the Ace in Dummy. A small heart was led from Dummy to Declarer's Ace, and the Knave then led through, Declarer having a vague hope of finding the blank Ten in the East hand. Of course, West covered, Dummy taking the trick with the King, and East fortunately following with a low one. Declarer now immediately led the last spade from Dummy, ruffed it in his hand, and then ran his clubs. West refused to trump as he had nothing in particular to lead and knew he would always make his high trump.

At this point South took stock of the situation and knew that in addition to the 1 trick he had already lost he would probably have to lose 2 diamond tricks and the high trump. There was one hope, however, and he immediately acted upon it. After taking the last club in Dummy he led a low diamond. Declarer played the Queen and now Declarer had to make his guess. If East had the blank Queen, South's proper play would be to duck; however, if East had a doubton honor sequence in diamonds, the correct play would be to go up with the Ace. South, who knew how to play hands, had an accurate count on the East hand and knew that East must have another diamond. He accordingly went up with the Ace and led a low diamond, which East was forced to take with the Knave. He now led a spade, which gave Declarer the necessary ruff and discard. Of course, West was helpless in this situation, because, if he played the diamond King on the second round of the suit, the Knave would drop with it and Dummy's Ten would be set up.

It is quite true that it took a favorite diamond division to make the hand for Declarer, but even with the cards as they lay, there is no doubt that many supposedly good Contract players would have lost it.

See Dangers in Prying Into Child's Thoughts

BY ANGELO PATRI

"What are you thinking about, Rudolph?"

"Nothing."

"Of course you are thinking of something. You're ashamed of it, I suppose, so you won't tell me."

"No, I'm not. There is nothing to tell you."

"That's what you always say. You sit and think and think and I never can find out what it is all about. You must be thinking about something and I have a right to know what it is."

When you pry into a child's mind in that way you will find nothing but resentment. There is nothing a mind so bitterly resents as prying. It closes up the instant it scents the hunter and the more persistent the hunt the tighter the closing.

I am against prying into a child's mind for any purpose. The only true expression a child ever makes is the voluntary one. When he trusts you he confides in you. His mind opens wide and you are made welcome to whatever it holds. If you force an entrance you are likely to get a false expression, one used as a screen to protect the precious secrets, the personal and intimate thoughts.

Sometimes troubled parents, mystified by a child's behavior, want to have the child's mind probed in order to find the secret of his peculiarities. Many experience teachers may be to weary of any such proceeding. The less probing the better. If a child seems to be seriously ill mentally he should be examined by an accredited expert, preferably one who is attached to a reputable hospital or clinic. This examination ought to be made only after consultation with a trusted physician.

I stand in awe of a mind, any mind. There is that about it which I cannot measure, cannot understand. It has depths that are fearful, heights that are staggering. When it functions smoothly in perfect health there is no understanding of it and when it struggles in illness there are hints and signs of forces beyond our comprehension. Only the most skilled and experienced, only those who can speak and act with the authority of long and humble service in the cause of suffering minds have any right to probe into the mysteries.

Most children are healthy minded. They may fall in the lessons they may have wild manners, they may make outrageous mistakes, they may be frightened by their escapades and still be mentally healthy. Instead of questioning their reason, question their physical health and their immediate environment in home and school for the cause of their difficulties.

Consider well before having a child examined for mental deficiency or mental ill health. Do so only after the advice of competent teachers and physicians, and then call in the expert. Experienced people stand a little in awe of the human mind. It has that in it which touches the Infinite.

"CAPRICORN"

If December 22nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:45 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:45 a. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:45 p. m.

You will probably be aware of a certain tenseness in the air on this day. Things just won't seem to go right. You will have difficulty in getting things started, and once you do, there is little or no reason to believe that they will remain on the right course even with the closest surveillance. It will seem that you do not have to look for trouble on this day; it will just pop up all around you. Sweethearts should carefully avoid disagreements of any kind.

Keep Both Eyes Open When You Select Husband

BY DOROTHY DIX

Travelers tell us of a tribe in Darkest Africa in which the women are only permitted to keep one eye open in the presence of men. Well, this is one more eye than girls keep open in the presence of men in this country. At least before marriage. For how else can you account for the many misfit marriages and the hordes of disgruntled wives except on the theory that women never even give the men they marry the once-over before they accompany them to the altar?

Total blindness is the only possible explanation for the men before and after taking, are just the same. They look just the same. They act the same way. They carry the same line of conversation. They have the same peculiarities and habits and ways that all stick out like a sore thumb, and the only way a girl can possibly keep from seeing them is to keep her eyes shut tight.

DOROTHY DIX Women are such adepts at camouflaging that a man is virtually forced to buy a pig in a poke when he gets married. He never knows whether his wife is a blonde or a brunette until he gets her home and she takes off her complexion and the hair dye begins to fade. Every girl before marriage is so mild and meek that butter wouldn't melt in her mouth, so a man has no chance to get a line on her real disposition.

Also, before marriage every girl understands the role of a man's ideal and is what he wants a woman to be. If he is athletic, she tramps miles over golf links, no matter how she loathes exercise. If he belongs to the intellectualist, she develops enthusiasm for art and reads highbrow books that bore her to tears. If he is domestic, she buys her a ruffled white apron and serves him angel food that she alleges she made with her own hand.

Not even Sherlock Holmes could see through the impenetrable disguise that a girl can slip on at a moment's notice, and so when a man discovers that his wife isn't in the least the sort of woman he thought he was marrying he has an alibi that will stand in any court.

But men take no such trouble to befool women as women do to befool men. They don't have to, for one thing. For another every man considers himself a matrimonial prize just as he is that any girl is lucky to get. So there he stands with all his faults thick upon him for her to see if she will only take a casual glance his way. And she is to blame, not he, if she doesn't like him when she looks him over after marriage.

But men take no such trouble to befool women as women do to befool men. They don't have to, for one thing. For another every man considers himself a matrimonial prize just as he is that any girl is lucky to get. So there he stands with all his faults thick upon him for her to see if she will only take a casual glance his way. And she is to blame, not he, if she doesn't like him when she looks him over after marriage.

This is what chills the sympathy in our breasts and makes us want to say: "Well for goodness sake, where were your eyes?" when so many wives come to us with their tales of disillusion and disappointment in marriage. Mrs. A. walls that she and her husband have nothing in common, that he is ALL business and she is ALL soul. Mrs. B. beats upon her breast and declares her marriage is a failure because her husband is grumpy and grouchy and about as chatty as a store dummy. Mrs. C's husband bores her to death. Mrs. D's is a stick-in-the-mud who never takes her anywhere. Mrs. E's is a tightwad. And so on and on through a long list of faults and blemishes that none of these ladies ever even suspected before marriage that their husbands had concealed about their persons.

But how can such things happen, one asks in bewilderment? After all, one does not marry a perfect stranger. How, then, is it possible for a woman to "keep company" with a man for months, sometimes for years, without finding out whether he is slouchy in his dress; like most people, you are happy when doing right, and even though you realize this you occasionally allow yourself to get off the "straight and narrow."

Successful People Born on December 22nd:

6. Ezekiah Butterworth, editor and author.

(Copyright, 1932.)

For it is a curious thing that once we begin noticing a blemish in a person it grows and grows until it is the only thing we can see. It obscures all that is fine and beautiful in them. We lose sight of all of John's kindness and goodness and generosity in the proxy way he tells a story. So the woman who wants to be happy though married must simply shut her eye to her husband's shortcomings and refuse to see them.

A good motto for all women is "Wear magnifying glasses when you look at a man before marriage, but wear blinders after marriage."

City Council Is Opposed to More Police

Resolution Fixing Salaries Of Two Additional Men Fails of Approval

Menasha—The proposed increase in Menasha police department personnel, considered by Menasha aldermen on several occasions during the past two years, was discouraged by the common council Tuesday evening when a resolution setting the salaries for two additional men failed to receive a motion for approval.

Additional police were sought in a petition by taxpayers more than a year ago, and again in a recent recommendation by the board of fire and police commissioners, but when the resolution to add two men at $100 a month each was introduced at the mid-monthly session Tuesday, it immediately was questioned. Alderman Grode called for an opinion on the necessity of action by the council rather than by the fire and police commission, and when City Attorney M. F. Crowley stated that the council had sole jurisdiction in the matter of salaries, Alderman Brezinski and Grode contended that no provision for additional police had been made in the 1933 budget. No vote on the resolution was taken.

Will Sustain Vetoes
In support of the general policy of economy the council sustained a resolution Tuesday to sustain vetoes by Mayor N. G. Remmel of actions by any department to authorize expenditures in excess of the 1933 budget appropriations. In a short talk at the conclusion of the meeting Mayor Remmel lauded the resolution and endorsed the council for their work during the past year.

An unusual problem involving a strip of property on Seventh-st., 230 feet long and five and three-quarters feet wide was referred to the city attorney and finance committee with power to act. The situation developed when the street line was shifted to avoid an intersection jog and owners of the strip have declined to pay assessments because their lots now are not abutting on the street, it was stated.

Mayor Remmel spoke briefly on poor relief, pointing out that the November costs for unemployment, and poor aid in Menasha totaled $438 and $134 by Jan. 1, the 1932 relief total would be about $50,000. Because of the increased complexity of the problem, he urged that the council "get together" with E. P. Mulholland, unemployment relief director, and should direct regular investigations of city charges.

He referred to the $125 received by the city from the S. A. Cook trust fund which in former years has been asked to provide Christmas baskets for needy families in the city. Although the number of relief cases this year prohibits the use of the former fund, he suggested that the money be used in some way to meet Christmas needs. He also suggested that other charitable organizations be invited to cooperate with the city agencies to avoid unnecessary duplication.

Alderman T. E. McGillan of the First ward suggested that the co-operation of local employers be sought in giving work in Menasha to Menasha residents rather than to people from other cities. Alderman Grode stated that the street department would make provisions on the beach road for hauling fishing shanties onto Lake Winnebago and Alderman Grade stated that in cases where the beach road was not feasible that the Plowright property had been offered.

Alderman Grade contended that the fire department should be more careful in driving the fire fighting apparatus but Mayor Remmel pointed out that no accidents ever had occurred here and that the speed of the fire trucks depended largely on the type of emergency to which the department was responding.

The city attorney was authorized to secure a court order to remove an indigent family from Menasha to Green Bay where legal residence had been established. A communication from the C. M. St. P. and P. railroad company relative to the proposed filling of the Kenema-st crossing was read.

Menasha Society

Menasha—Work in the second and third degrees will be done at a regular weekly meeting of Twin City Odd Fellows in their lodge rooms Wednesday evening.

Menasha camp of Royal Neighbors was entertained at a Christmas party in Knights of Columbus lodge rooms Tuesday evening. A program for juvenile members of the organization preceded the regular social activities.

The annual parish supper meeting of St. Thomas Episcopal church will be held Jan. 9. The post dinner program will include special music, regular reports and election of wardens and vestry.

Scouts to Exhibit

Renovated Toys

Menasha—Boy scouts of Troop 15 will exhibit toys which have been renovated for distribution to needy children, at a meeting in St. Patrick's school hall Wednesday evening. The St. Patrick troop has changed its regular meeting night from Tuesday to Wednesday evening.

The Rev. Malcolm J. Van Zandt, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal church, attended a meeting of Troop 3 in St. Thomas parish house Tuesday evening. Don Rusch, scout master, was in charge of the program.

GET FALSE ALARM

Menasha—The Menasha fire department responded to a false alarm from the water and light plant shortly before 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A short circuit set off the power plant alarm, it was stated.

Readopt Bi-Payment Tax Collection Plan

Menasha—The bi-payment system of real estate tax collection which has been in practice here for several years, was readopted in an ordinance adopted by the common council Tuesday evening. All personal property taxes and assessments must be paid on or before Jan. 31, but one half of the real property tax may be paid by Feb. 28 and the remaining half by June 30. A 1 per cent interest fee is charged on the deferred portion.

Work on tax receipts is under way in the office of C. A. Beckert, city treasurer, and although no definite announcement has been made, collections are expected to start here late this month or early in January.

Traces History Of First Pulp Plant in Valley

Difficulties in Early Experiments Recalled by Appleton Man

Menasha—The history of the Manufacturing Investment Corp., predecessor of the Interlake Pulp and Paper company of Appleton and one of the pioneer firms in the manufacture of sulphite pulp, was related by William A. Fannon of Appleton at a meeting of the Menasha Kiwanis club in Hotel Menasha Tuesday noon.

Fannon outlined the difficulties encountered in early experiments with the pulp cooking process and told how high government officials during the administration of Grover Cleveland were interested in the construction of mills to manufacture pulp in the new way.

Plants at Appleton and at Madison, Maine, were the first to be constructed and Admiral Robert "Fighting Bob" Pease, then a captain in the navy, was in charge of the Appleton project.

The 14 original digesters used at the Appleton mill presented a number of difficult problems before the plant finally was in operation, Fannon explained. Each one was 42 feet long and 14 feet in diameter. To load cars were large enough to transport the digesters by rail and it was necessary to float them from the east through the Great Lakes and the Fox river to Appleton.

Placing the heavy digesters on top of piers was the next difficult engineering feat and the late George Danielson of Neenah finally succeeded in the job and completed it successfully. The manufacturing investment company, with which Fannon was associated, continued the manufacture of sulphite pulp until it sold out to the Interlake company.

The Kiwanis club directors, both incumbent and elect, will meet at the Schintz Bros. drug store at 8:30 Wednesday. Routine work will be done.

Twin City Deaths

MRS. LOUISE JENSEN
Neenah—Mrs. Louise Jensen, 39, died at her home, 410 E. Franklin-ave, at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon following a lingering illness. She was born at Horicon, July 5, 1893, but was a resident of Neenah nearly all her life. She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

Survivors are the husband; one daughter, Fern; two sons, Wilbert and Norman; two brothers, Frank Smith of Chicago and Louis Smith of Milwaukee; and one sister, Mrs. Fred Johnson of Neenah.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 1:30 Friday afternoon and at Trinity Lutheran church at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Albert Froehle will officiate and burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

MRS. ANNA QUELLA
Menasha—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Quella, 97, former Menasha resident who died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Theodore Wolk, at Newald, will be held at St. Mary's church here at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Mrs. Quella was born in Germany, but came to the United States and directly to Menasha in 1905. She moved to Newald to reside with her daughter early this year.

A number of relatives are in Germany, but survivors who are residents of the United States include five sons, Joseph Quella of Menasha; Ben of Appleton; Henry and Walter of Kenosha and Frank Quella, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. Peter Ahl, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Thomas Wolk, Newald; and 38 grandchildren.

DETECTIVE AND CAPONE CHIEF ARE SHOT

Frank (The Enforcer) Nitti, Capone's business chief during the prosperous days and now co-captain with Murray Humphries of what remains of the syndicate, was critically wounded by Detective Harry Lang during a raid on the gang's suite in a downtown Chicago office building, and Lang was shot in the arm. The scene of the shooting is pictured above. Nitti tried to destroy some papers on the desk at the left, and shot Lang when he tried to stop him. Lang fired back hitting Nitti in the neck, chest and back. Inset are, left to right: Detective Harry Lang, Detective Harry Miller, his companion on the raid, and Frank Nitti. Nitti early today was given an "80 per cent" chance to live.

Church Planning Special Services

Carol Service for Children Next Saturday Afternoon

Menasha—Special Christmas services at St. Thomas Episcopal church have been announced by the Rev. Malcolm J. Van Zandt, rector. On Saturday a Carol service and address for children of the church school and their parents will be held at 4 o'clock. Carols and Holy Communion will feature the 11 o'clock service in the evening.

On Christmas day a Holy Communion service will be held at 8 a. m. and Holy Communion and sermon at 11 o'clock. Twin Cities Commandery, Knights Templar, will attend the 11 o'clock service in a body.

Cantata on Sunday

Menasha—The choir of the First Congregational church will present a cantata entitled "The Music of Bethlehem," at the 10 o'clock service at the church on Christmas morning.

On Thursday evening of this week the Sunday school entertainment will be held at the church and foodstuffs will be brought for admission. The food later will be distributed to needy families.

A group of Congregational young people, accompanied by the Rev. John Best, will sing Christmas carols to the shut-ins Saturday evening.

The Rev. C. E. Fritz, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church, officiated and burial was in Kelo cemetery at Kaukauna.

Pall bearers were H. J. Reimer, Edward Lewandowski, Russell Flom, R. H. Clough, B. F. Grogan, Roy Sund.

Put on Probation For One to Two Years

Neenah—Jack Driscoll, Neenah, pleaded guilty of embezzlement when arraigned in the municipal court of Judge S. L. Spengler at Oshkosh Tuesday and was placed on probation to the state board of control for one to two years. He was charged with embezzlement of $148.76 from Morgan and Tews, Neenah, his employers, and preliminary examination was held before Justice Chris Jensen here last week.

Judge Spengler ascertained that it was Driscoll's first offense. The defendant was not represented by counsel when he appeared Tuesday. Testimony at the examination showed that Driscoll was employed in an oil station and it was alleged he collected money owed to his employers and failed to make proper accounting for the collections.

Loan Association Votes Dividend

Action Marks Eightieth Consecutive Semi-Annual Payment

Neenah—Directors of the Twin City Building-Loan and Savings association have declared a 5 per cent dividend, marking the eightieth consecutive semi-annual payment, to stockholders in the 40 years the association has been in existence.

During the past 40 years dividends ranging from 5 to 14 per cent have been paid, and in the past four years the business of the association has increased 134 per cent, its financial statement reveals.

The association was organized in 1893 by a group of Neenah and Menasha men with F. T. Russell as the first president and M. L. Campbell as the first secretary. In 1901 the association arbitrarily lowered the rate charged on borrowed money to 6 per cent.

Present officers and directors are Gustave Kalfahs, president; D. W. Dunham, vice president; A. W. Anderson, assistant secretary; W. A. Gerhardt, treasurer; John W. O'Leary, attorney; Kalfahs, Dunham, W. O. Aldred, Fred Elvers, L. E. Dennis, F. O. Heckrodt, Matt Henk, George Sensesbrenner and A. W. Anderson, directors.

This will be the fourth of a series of one-act plays given this season by this club. Those to take part in the Christmas play are Marion LaFond as the Dutch Girl clock; Doris Simms, Dutch Boy clock; Donald Smith, clock maker; Maurice Hunt, Grandfather clock; Robert Gibson, alarm clock; Marjorie Opitz, cuckoo clock; Stanley Larson as Father Time. A chorus under direction of Miss Catherine Jones, composed of Doris Renner, Ruth Kreger, Sadoma Elmer, Helen Thuesen, Lois Godfrey, Betty Young, Pearl Luebben and Vera Haire.

May Abandon Hockey

This Year at School

Neenah—Hockey at the high school may be abandoned this season, according to Coach Marvin Olson. Only a few schools in this vicinity are playing the game this year. The rink at the high school will not be flooded this winter, and the lake rink not provided with the regulation sideboards. The city team also had to abandon playing at home this season.

Neenah Prints Hold

To Lead in Dartball

Neenah—The Neenah Prints maintained their lead in Eagles Dartball league standings in the club rooms Tuesday evening, winning two out of three games from the Milwaukee Journals. The second place Kohrt Shoe Repairs took two out of three games from the Drahem Darts, winning the third game 9 to 8 in 11 innings.

Get $10,300 for Relief From State

Another Check for $900 Is Also Received for Street Maintenance

Neenah—A state check for $10,377.55, for unemployment relief, and another for $934.92 covering expenditures made in maintaining streets forming connections with the state trunk highway system, were received today at the office of Walter Loehning, city treasurer.

An explanation of the relief check from the Industrial commission is contained in a letter to Mayor George E. Sande from Florence Fekerson, supervisor of unemployment relief. The letter states in part:

"The state of Wisconsin regrets very much that it has been unable to make prompt payment of the 25 per cent of 1931 outdoor relief expenditures as provided in the state emergency relief act, Chap. 29, Laws of Special session, 1931. The unfortunate delay is due to the fact that much of the income taxes have not yet been received by the state treasurer."

"To compensate you for this delay we are enclosing a check for $10,377.55 which is equivalent to 25 per cent of your 1931 outdoor relief expenditures, from the Reconstruction Finance corporation fund which has been given to the state of Wisconsin for unemployment relief purposes."

The check for $934.92 was received from the Wisconsin Highway commission.

High School Band in

Annual State Contest

Neenah—The high school band under direction of Lester Mais, will enter the annual state band tournament early next May at Madison, according to Mr. Mais. The band will enter in the "B" class. The one required number to be played in the "B" division will be "One Beautiful Day" by Hildreth, a number the local band is now working on. Selective numbers have not yet been chosen. A series of four concerts has been arranged for the year to raise funds with which to defray expenses of the band's trip to the tournament city.

Lyceum Club Banquet

Is Thursday Evening

Neenah—The high school Lyceum club will hold its annual banquet at 6:15 Thursday evening at the Sign of the Fox. A program consisting of a puppet show by Marjorie Opitz, reading by Maurice Hunt, a monologue by Eileen Cannon, and piano numbers by Miss Hart of Appleton, will follow the dinner.

Furs, Turkeys Part of Loot In Burglaries

Cohen Warehouse, Johnson Tannery Ransacked at Waupaca

Waupaca — Burglars broke into the Carl Cohen warehouse Monday night and stole about $600 worth of furs and two turkeys. The burglary was discovered at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning by Lyle Smith who drives truck for Cohen. He notified Sheriff Arthur Steinhilber.

The warehouse was entered by breaking open a door on the north side of the building. When W. G. Johnson entered his tannery across the street from the Cohen warehouse Tuesday morning he found that some one had broken in and taken 18 skunk pelts. Mr. Johnson is a dealer in seed and hides. The skunk pelts were later found outside of the building. About $6 was taken from the cash drawer. The entire building was ransacked but it is believed the burglars were after furs. The skunk pelts were all the fur Mr. Johnson had on hand.

The Waupaca co. chapter of Red Cross held its annual meeting at the public library Saturday with a dinner at 1 o'clock. Following the dinner a business meeting was held with the election of the officers for the coming year. Officers are: Chairman, Mrs. William Ware; vice chairman, Mrs. Oscar Larson; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Guy Mumbure. Mrs. Mumbure reported that since April 1, 1,188 barrels of flour have been received and distributed; 3,210 yards of material; four dozen infants hose, 15 dozen women's knit garments, 14 dozen men's hose, one and a half dozen men's trousers, 9 dozen men's overalls, two dozen boys' overalls, one dozen children's play suits, two dozen infants shirts. This merchandise is shipped directly from the factories and is made up into packages by the local committee and sent to different parts of the county through the chairman of the precincts.

The chapter includes all of the county with the exceptions of cities of New London and Clintonville and the towns of Big Falls, Embarras, Wyoming, Matteson, Larrabee, Bear Creek and Dupont, which constitute a separate chapter. The roll call shows that the chapter has 271 members with Weyauwega not yet reporting. Waupaca reported 212 members, Manawa 31, and Ogdensburg 28.

Waupaca public schools will close Friday afternoon for a two weeks vacation. The elementary rooms are planning individual programs for Friday afternoon. The junior high grades will meet with an old time program of music and readings and a Christmas play. The high school grades will have a short program, in the assembly, with Christmas carols and a short dramatization.

Dr. J. C. Tommessen of this city has been named county humane agent for Waupaca co according to report from George H. Comings, state humane agent, Madison.

Miss Mary Schroeder was hostess to members of the Harmony Bridge club at her home on High-st. Monday evening. This was a Christmas party and each guest received a gift. Mrs. William McLean received high score for the evening.

Choir to Present Religious Cantata

New London—The religious cantata, "Bethlehem," by Charles Gabriel, will be presented during the regular morning service at 11 o'clock at Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning. Theodore

Granted Permission For Store Building

New London—The council Tuesday night was concerned chiefly with the petition of William Stern, who wished to erect a neighborhood store at the intersection of Washington and Dorset-sts. While most of the residents favored the proposition, the mayor and a few of the councilmen thought that the store's erection would detract from the residential value. The resultant vote of the aldermen showed eight in favor of the project and two against it.

The public property committee was told to enact suitable laws to handle the athletic field skating rink, and to protect the little children so that there will be no injuries by hockey players or older children.

Students Present Three-Act Play

"The Tumult" Offered Tuesday Night at High School Auditorium

New London—A cast of 10 high school students Tuesday night presented a three-act comedy-drama, "The Tumult," thereby initiating for amateur dramatic purposes the stage of the new high school auditorium. The group presented a rather unusual plot wherein several portrayed adult characters, but an admirable smoothness carried the story through.

Light and sound effects, possible through the facilities of the well appointed stage, brought out certain realistic phases never before attempted by a high school cast here. In the third act a storm scene added exciting realism to the story. The play, revolving about the plot of Clay Grantwell to wreck the Chadwick steel mills owned by John Chadwick, was rife with exciting situations. Leroy Ramsdell, Marianne Hippler, Elven Ellefson, Merle Shepard and Robert Putnam, assuming the roles of persons of mature years, did excellent justice to their responsibilities. Comedy was introduced in the guise of John Garot and Fred Krause, while the peppery comparisons of youth of present and past were enjoyed in the role presented by Miss Hippler, the Grandma Benson of the story.

Well taken were the roles of Bessie Platte, appearing as the daughter of the steel magnate, while Arnette Thomas, a younger sister and Genevieve Smith, as her friend were much at home in their youthful roles playing opposite John Garot and Fred Krause. There was almost equal opportunity for importance for each of the ten who made up the cast since the responsibility of the play's success seemed to rest with each character alike. The play was directed by H. H. Brockhaus, instructor of public speaking. Between scenes the high school orchestra of more than 20 pieces, directed by O. J. Hoh, played.

Helm is director of the choir. Those in the choir include Mr. Helm, Alton Jeffers, Gordon Poepeke, G. A. Wells, Ben Andrews, Rev. William Mason, Mrs. E. M. Worby, Mrs. Fred Rogers, Mrs. William Dent, Mrs. Carl Linberg, Mrs. E. J. Freburger, Miss William Mason, Miss Marie Mason, Mrs. Emily Nelson, Mrs. Victor Thomas, Mrs. R. S. Sackett, Miss Rosell Earl and Miss Mildred Daley.

The annual Sunday school program will be presented Friday night at the church. In this all children of the church school will participate. Mrs. F. C. Andrews and Mrs. Henry Christianson are directing the various groups of children who will appear.

Valley Sports vs. Stagg Hi-Y.

The Badger team in the Older Boy league at the Y. M. C. A. pulled an upset last night when it bumped off the Pond Juniors by a score of 15 and 12. Previously the Ponds had been undefeated in league play and were rated as probably the best squad in the loop. Taking an early lead with Davidson doing the scoring, the Badgers held a 6 and 3 count at the quarter and 8 and 7 at the half. In the third quarter they pushed the count to 13 and 9 and then protected their margin to cop a 15 to 12 win.

Deltas won their third game in league play yesterday with a 26 and 12 victory over the Misfits. The first half the game was comparatively close, the score at the quarter being 3 and 2 for the Deltas. Their lead at the half was 7 and 2. In the third period the Deltas put on the steam and ran away with the ball game as Bauer scored five buckets. In the fourth period the Misfits outscored the Deltas 8 and 6 but no one cared for the early margin was enough to insure a win. Laeyendecker, and M. Zussman played the best ball for the Misfits.

In the other game the Wolverines beat Sousas on a forfeit because the latter didn't have enough players. The Sousas picked up a team and the count was 18 and 10 for the Wolves.

Marquette Humbles Indian Five, 21-20

Milwaukee—(P)—Marquette University's husky basketball team defeated Indiana here last night in a nip and tuck game 20 to 21. It was a game full of thrills in which the lead alternated frequently. Marquette's powerful players kept a steady pace and Indiana kept step most of the way with strategies that made heads ache.

Eugene Ronzani, Marquette co-captain, was chased from the game late in the second period on personal fouls. Porter of Indiana was chased for the same reason.

For Indiana it was the first defeat this year. The victory was Marquette's second over a Big Ten team this season.

LaCrosse Beaten By St. Thomas Five

St. Paul—(P)—St. Thomas college, which turned on the steam after a slow start, last night defeated the LaCrosse Teachers college basketball team here 38 to 30. For St. Thomas the game was the start of college competition.

The Teachers, champions of the Wisconsin conference for the past two seasons, moved to the front shortly after the start of the game, but weakened as the pace grew faster. St. Thomas led at the half 22 to 15, and held a safe margin throughout the second half.

Jinx No Longer

The Washington Senators won't lose any ball games to Walter Stewart next year. The reason is that they've just acquired their pet southpaw jinx from the St. Louis Browns in a trade involving six players. Stewart, shown above, who had the Indian sign on the Senators all last year, went to Washington with Goose Goslin and Fred Schulte, outfielders, for outfielders Carl Reynolds and Sam West, and pitcher Lloyd Brown.

Mohawks Lose to Guard Quintet

Newest Entry in Y. M. C. A. League Is Defeated 36 and 34

Co. D. basketball team and the Mohawks, newest entry in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league played a non-league game last night at the association gym with the Guards winning the nod 36 and 34. The Mohawks outscored the Guards on field goals but failed to count as many free tosses. There was an unusually large amount of fouling, the Hawks being called 20 times and the Guards 16.

Johnny Bauer led the Guards in scoring with five buckets and was followed by Kneip with four and three free throws. Pete Kohl topped the Mohawks with seven field goals.

Stadium to Feed Dec. 29 Boxers

Nate Lewis Wants Boys in Chicago Well in Advance of Card

Chicago—(P)—The Chicago Stadium corporation will buy the Christmas dinners of the fighters appearing on its Dec. 29 card, but there's a catch in the generous arrangement.

None of the athletes wished to come to Chicago before Christmas day, preferring to spend the holiday at home. Matchmaker Nate Lewis, however, wants them here well in advance of the show, and inserted the free dinner clause in each contract.

The catch is that Lewis will be the official host at the dinner and will see that no one gets any miseries from overeating. Tommy Paul, national boxing association featherweight champion, will meet Fidel La Barba of Los Angeles, in one feature bout, and George Nichols, Buffalo, N. Y., light heavyweight, will hold the E. A. title in his division until it was vacated last week, meets Martin Levandowski of Grand Rapids, Mich., in the other.

Badger Quint Hopes to Win First Game Thursday

ADISON—(P)—Set back in the first two games it has played, the University of Wisconsin basketball team was enroute to College Park, Md., today, hoping to win its first victory of the season in an intercollegiate game with the University of Maryland five.

The game is a return match, the eastern squad having played here last year when it met defeat at the hands of the Badgers in an exciting, close game. The game will be played tomorrow night.

Although he fully expected both Carleton and Marquette to defeat the inexperienced Badgers, Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, Wisconsin mentor, has decided on a few shifts in the lineup to permit a smoother offense. When Maryland is met tomorrow night three sophomores will probably be leading the attack.

Ray Hamann, big sophomore, has been shifted to center in place of Verkuilen's 18, Hauert's 18.

Shoety's Shoes 23, Schommer Builders 18.
Gustman Chevies 33, Merchants 25.

GUSTMAN Chevies continued to set the pace in the Little Chute league last night when they won their third straight game. The Merchants were the losers and the count was 33 and 25. The game was one of three played weekly by the villagers at Legion hall.

The Chevies took an 18 and 4 lead in the opening half with Ray Versteegen leading the way at the hoop. Fists were numerous but the boys failed to realize on them. During the second half the Merchants had the edge in scoring, 21 to 20, but they were unable to overcome the big lead the Chevies rattled up in the first half.

Ray Versteegen had seven field goals for the Chevies and Koch three and three free throws. Pete Wildenberg paced the Merchants with five buckets. The Chevies had 14 fouls called on them, the Merchants 13.

Shoety's Shoes won their second game when they trounced the Schommer Builders by a score of 23 and 18. The Shoes had things all their own way in the opening half and led by comfortable 12 and 4 margins. In the second half the Builders outscored them, 14 to 11, but not enough to overcome the first half margin.

The remaining game of the evening saw the Verkuilen Furniture win their second contest, edging out a 19 and 18 win over the Hauert's. As in other of the evening's games one team led by a big score at the end of the half, was outscored in the second half but won anyway. The Verkuilen's led 10 and 2 at the first rest, were outscored 16 and 9 in the last half but managed to win 19 and 18.

'Ol Mississippi to Play Marquette U.

University, Miss.—(P)—The 1933 University of Mississippi football schedule announced today includes a game with Marquette University at Milwaukee the night of Oct. 13.

PITT COACH PLANS ATTACK

Reports from scouts Bill Kern, Hank Handgartner and Andy Gustafson, have caused Coach Jack Sutherland, of Pitt, to revise his plan of attack on the western front. Kern and Handgartner witnessed the recent Notre Dame-Southern California game and then hustled back to Pittsburgh to let the boss know all about his foe in the Rose Bowl classic Jan. 2. Above coach and scouts are conferring. Left to right are: Bill Kern, Sutherland, Gustafson and Handgartner. Kern and Handgartner are former Pitt players who have taken part in previous Rose Bowl games.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon R. McIntyre

BASEBALL moguls and old-timers at the recent minor-league convention in Columbus, O., bewailed the fact that baseball is fast becoming a game for "big sissies."

Tris Speaker recalled the good old days when an out-of-the-way word provoked a flurry of hard fists and brought on bruised heads and sometimes an ambulance.

Rube Marquard, when the name of John McGraw entered the conversation, stood on his hind legs and howled that the old type of fighting umpire without quaking in his boots, left with the exit of Jawm.

George Burns, former big league first sacker, opined that the vicious hostility that used to hold forth between the "bleacherites" and outfielders was so colorful that it filled the stands every day, and that probably attendance, now in the doldrums, would increase if this "situation" was in evidence now.

Say It Isn't So, Boys
If what the boys say is true, then the good old game has gone to the bow-wows. Ticket takers might as well apply for a job at the World's Fair next year, managers should look up the nearest home for the aged, and ball players themselves ought to start training for six-day bicycle racing.

But a hasty glance over the past year seems to indicate that all these bear stories aren't exactly correct. The ball season of 1932 produced two memorable scraps that would rival any of the old-time brawls, and several fielder-bleacherite encounters that should have increased attendance considerably.

Dickey Vs. Reynolds
How about the Bill Dickey-Carl Reynolds affair? Wasn't that a scrap? Or maybe breaking a guy's jaw is a pink tea affair these days.

Here's all that happened that day of the memorable fight between the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees.

Dickey had been bumped around at home plate the day before at Boston. In trying to catch Reynolds between third and home, Bill hit him in the back with the ball. So he came in standing up and bumped Dickey.

Dickey proceeded to bump Carl so hard on the jaw with a rock-like fist that he broke it, the jaw, in two places.

The afternoon then went along smoothly. Babe Ruth took one of Buddy Meyers legs from under him at second. Allen hit Buddy on the arm with a hard pitch, and Gehrig turned him upside down. Buddy retaliated by sliding to first with his feet in the air and cutting Lou's pants with his spikes.

Oh, it was a nice, quiet afternoon!

Moriarty Vs. Chicago
Then there was that Moriarty-Chicago White Sox battle royal which saw old George hold his own against all the forces Manager Lou Fongseca could muster in the gangway leading from the Cleveland playing field to the clubhouse.

After eight or nine guys had piled on, and they couldn't tell who was good, the fight ceased with the big burly ump unscathed except for a bruised hand, which he probably damaged on some ball player's hard knock, and a few scratches.

As for the bleacherites and outfielders ceasing their razzing—well, go see the Yanks play away from home some day and see the unmerciful razzing the old Babe has to stand up under.

The boys may be sissies now-a-days, but they sure have got the old self-control.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT
Washington, D. C.—Pete Sanstol, Norway, outpointed Ben n y Schwartz, Baltimore, (8).

Chicago—Prince Saunders, Chicago, outpointed Young Terry, Davenport, Ia. (6).

Los Angeles—Speedy Dado, Philippine Islands, outpointed Eugene Kiat, France, (10).

Albuquerque, N. M.—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, outpointed Jack Silva, San Francisco, (10).

Seattle—Alvin Lewis, Seattle, defeated Tod Morgan, Seattle, (6); Leonard Bennett, Detroit, knocked out Cerefino Franco, Manila, (2).

Yankees Voted Greatest Team In Year's Sports

Romp Through A. L. and During World Series Wins Praise

NEW YORK—(P)—By an overwhelming margin, the nation's sports experts have decided that the New York Yankees' feat of winning the American league championship and the world series was the greatest team achievement of the year.

Exactly 100 out of the 302 votes cast in the second annual Associated Press poll of sports writers and editors went to the Yankees. The college football teams of Colgate and Southern California, the pro outfit of the Green Bay Packers, the United States Olympic track and field squad, and California's all-conquering crew, finished badly distanced also-rans to the Yankees.

Colgate's football array, undefeated, united and unscored upon, finished in second place with 33 votes, six more than Southern California's mole-skin warriors.

Apparently it was the Yankees' consistent performance over the long stretch from April to October that turned the tide of ballots toward them rather than to any one football team. The Yankees played 160 games where football players are asked to play nine or ten at the most.

Here's how the leaders finished in the balloting:

1. New York Yankees, baseball 100.
2. Colgate, football 33.
3. Southern California 28.
4. U. S. Olympic track and field team 26.
5. Green Bay pro football team 19.
6. University of California crew 15.
7. U. S. Olympic team (all sports) 11.
8. Pittsburgh, football 8.
9. Michigan, football 7.
10. Notre Dame, football 7.
11. Japanese Olympic swimming team 7.

Greenleaf Wins 7th Cue Match

Billard Title Lies Between He and Erwin Rudolph, Cleveland

NEW YORK—(P)—The national pocket billiard championship lies strictly between Ralph Greenleaf of New York and Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland with the other eight hopefuls definitely also-rans.

Greenleaf's seventh successive victory of the current championship tournament, a 125 to 69 triumph over 22-year-old Jimmy Caras last night, together with Rudolph's sixth winning game in seven starts, left these two veteran masters of the game the sole remaining contenders for the crown now held by Greenleaf.

Greenleaf's two remaining games take him against Pasquale Natalie of Chicago and against Rudolph tomorrow night. Rudolph, before he clashes with the champion, must take Andrew Ponzi, the sensational Philadelphia tonight. A victory for Greenleaf today, coupled with a defeat for Rudolph, automatically would clinch the title again for the dapper champion.

Rudolph's sixth victory in seven starts was achieved yesterday afternoon over Natalie, 125 to 49 in 18 innings. Frank Taberski, Schenectady, N. Y., veteran completed his schedule with a 125 to 80 victory over George Kelly, his fourth triumph in nine matches. Kelly won two and lost seven.

Big Ten Cagers Win 16 Non-Loop Games

Chicago—(P)—Western conference basketball teams today held good edge over non-conference foes, but the latter were creeping up.

The count stood at 16 victories out of 26 games in favor of the Big Ten, but Marquette whittled it down some last night by handing Indiana its first defeat of the season, 21 to 20 at Milwaukee. The triumph gave the Hilltoppers a margin of two to one over conference fives.

Wisconsin and the Hoosiers having been defeated, with Northwestern providing the reverse.

Illinois will meet Missouri at Columbia in the only game on tonight's schedule.

Ben Eastman to Take Track and Field Jaunt

NEW YORK—(P)—Ben Eastman, runner-up to Bill Carr in the Olympic 400 meter final, tentatively has accepted an invitation to join the United States track and field team which will tour Europe next summer.

Eastman told Amateur Athletic Union officials he would be glad to join the squad provided he could return to this country in time to start a post-graduate course at Stanford University.

Eight Teams for Industrial Loop

An eighth team in the industrial-commercial basketball league of the Y. M. C. A. was announced tonight by W. S. Ryan, physical director of the association. It will be known as the Mohawks and its being sponsored by Harold Haugen and "Doc" Gebheim and will show Appleton, Neenah and Kimberly talent. It will make its debut in league circles Thursday night when it plays the Groh Cleaners.

Golfer Wins Bowling Prize; Can't Accept

Omaha, Neb., (P)—Johnny Goodman, the little Omaha golfer who represented the United States in the finals of the national amateur tournament, knows where there is $15 that is his for the taking—but he won't take it.

Goodman, paired with Pete Lyck, Omaha amateur golfer, entered a bowling tourney here and he and Lyck were no little surprised when they found themselves headed the list of doubles teams.

Their score was good enough to win them $30—but they haven't claimed the $30 and both freely admit they never expect to.

Their amateur standing would be ruined if they took the money.

Kimberly Gets 33 Goals in Victory

Clubbers Defeat Allenton 'Point a Minute Quint', 76 to 21

KIMBERLY—The Kimberly club cagers, in the best offensive exhibition this year walloped the Allenton team in a one sided game at the clubhouse Tuesday evening by a 76 to 21 count.

The visitors were handicapped by the loss of

New York—(P)—Selling, subsided in today's stock market, after yesterday's setback, but the list was unable to rally appreciably. Net changes at the close were mixed, and mostly fractional. The tone was steady. Transactions aggregated 700,000 shares.

The list lifted upward in the early dealings, settled back in the middle of the day under scattered selling of tobaccos, coppers and some of the rails, but stiffened somewhat in the late trading as short covering appeared in U. S. Steel Preferred.

Some traders evidently decided they had been overvalued and sold. The market was not so much as it was a few days ago. The common mounted a fraction. American Tobacco "B" dipped about two points, then recovered a point. Anaconda and Kennecott were under some pressure, and lost fractions. American telephone was firm for a time, but closed lower. Cattle, sheep and hogs were steady. Corn, soybeans and wheat were firm. New York Central was a soft spot in the rails, off more than a point, but the former recovered in the late trading, possibly in response to the "wet" vote in the house.

The midweek business statistics were not without bright spots. Some of the individual carloadings reported have shown some fair gains, contrary to the usual seasonal trend. This was particularly notable in the case of New York Central, which came within 9.1 per cent of the volume in the like week of last year. This was almost entirely attributed to a pickup in automobile manufacturing.

The weekly electric power production figures, showing a sharper gain than in any of the corresponding weeks of the past three years, may also have reflected in part the acceleration in the motor industry. The work on 1933 models was said to be about the only sustained gain in the case of the steel industry, which appeared to be in for a period of extreme holiday quiet.

Bearish gossip of one sort and another was promoted by yesterday's slump. Selling of the coppers was a further reflection of the adverse price situation in the industry. While foreign prices have recently firmed a little, stocks of metal above ground are so large that the industry has little hope of early return to a profitable price basis, particularly since the recent buildup of the international producers conference. Tobacco was sold in connection with a gossip over the prospects of a "cigaret price cut. Oils were helped by the crude production figures of last week, although gasoline stocks in storage were again higher.

Wall-st manifested much interest in the course of the beer bill in the house of representatives. Some of the bottling stocks were sold, possibly reflecting disappointment at the progress of the measure.

Hog Prices Again Down to New Low

Average at Lowest Mark in 54 Years — Cattle Trade Speeds Up

Chicago—(P)—Hog prices crashed through to another new low today. Butchers sold well under $3, packing sows down to $2 and only selected light hogs commanded $3 or better. The top on such kinds was $3.05 and was not generally paid.

The average cost of hogs during the morning was around $2.85, general trading being weak to 10 cents lower. The run again overhauled advance estimates by 5,000 head, but 18,000 went direct to slaughter plants. The size of the run occasioned some comment as the markets will not be closed for either Christmas or New Year's, assuring buyers supplies without a break.

The top was the lowest since December, 1878, and the average price also marked 54 years. Among the market circles the trend of prices was mixed. Kansas City reported quotations off 10 cents, Indianapolis said steady and East St. Louis came in with an advance of a dime. Others ranged between these limits.

Trade in the cattle alleys was slower at the start, but speeded up later. Light offerings commanded premiums figures and all strictly choice light cattle were quoted strong to unevenly higher. Heavy steers weighing more than 1,400 lbs. were in less demand and sold slowly.

Live mutton receipts were again small, but buyers were again taking advantage of this by cutting requirements to a minimum. Sellers hoped for higher prices, but buyers refused and offered weak to unevenly lower. As a result, the market was not established, and trade was slow. Packers had 1,600 lambs direct.

Aid Problems Discussed by City Council

Several Special Cases Referred to Kaukauna Poor Committee

Kaukauna—Discussion of several cases on the city poor list took place at the common council meeting last night in the municipal building. A number of indigents told the council that they either could not get along with the aid they were receiving, or that they needed things and were having difficulty in presenting their cases to the proper officials.

One man with nine children, who had been receiving aid from the city for several years, told the council that the amount of his aid had been cut down considerably in the past few months and that it was impossible for him to provide enough food now. R. H. McCarthy, poor commissioner, told the council that the poor department was attempting to keep the aid on an even balance and that the man had been receiving the same amount of aid as several other families of the same size.

He added that the poor list was increasing and that it would soon reach proportions where the city would be unable to handle it if some limit was not set. He asked what would be done if this point was reached.

Two women appeared seeking clothing. They told the council that they had been turned down by the Women's Relief committee. They said members of the committee told them they would have to receive aid through the poor department and that the poormaster referred them to the committee.

Referred to Committee Alderman Walter Cooper explained that there were some people who were constantly applying for clothing and that the committee might have been mistaken in sending some applicants away. Both cases were referred to the poor committee following a lengthy discussion in which a cut for city employees was advocated. Alderman Bert Roberts and Cooper spoke against the reduction in salaries.

Lester Versteegen, who applied for a Class A Permit to operate a soft drink parlor at the Nitingale Service Station on Green Bay-rd, asked for return of the license fee of $50 paid on Aug. 24. Versteegen's request for return of the money had been discussed at several previous meetings and involved granting of a permit to a place that already had been ordered padlocked by federal authorities. The permit was granted by the council and the license was not signed by the mayor, but automatically went into effect 10 days after its adoption by the council. Mayor B. W. Fargo presided at the session when the permit was granted but did not sign the license when notified that the place had been padlocked.

The council reiterated its refusal to return the money, stating that Versteegen knew that place had been raided and had taken a chance on its being padlocked. Alderman W. Gillen told Versteegen the council would consider transfer of the license to another suitable spot in the city. Versteegen was unsatisfied with his offer and said he would institute legal action for the return of his money.

Two representatives of the Employers' Mutual Insurance Co. explained their type of insurance to the council and sought sanction of the council to insure city employees. Action was deferred.

Mayor B. W. Fargo, Aldermen E. Brewster, O. Luitke, and City Attorney Joseph LeFevre were absent. Alderman W. Larnot presided in the mayor's absence.

The poor committee met following the council's session to dispose of several poor cases.

Kaukauna—Knights of Columbus ladies will meet at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in their clubrooms on W. Wisconsin-ave. There will be no business session. Social activities will start immediately at 2:30, according to Mrs. E. R. Landreman. It will be the annual Christmas party, and cards will be played. There will be no exchange of gifts. Mrs. Landreman and Mrs. John Pfeifer are handling arrangements for the meeting.

Sacred Heart Court No. 556, Catholic Order of Foresters, will meet at 8 o'clock this evening in St. Mary church basement. A covered dish supper will be served, and each member is asked to bring dishes. Although it will be the Christmas party, there will be no exchange of gifts.

The marriage of Joseph Effa and Miss Genevieve Spanner, both of this city, will take place Tuesday morning, Dec. 27, at St. Mary Catholic church, with the Rev. A. Roder in charge.

The marriage of Norbert Fink, route 1, Sherwood, to Miss Myrtle Van Gompel of this city, will take place Tuesday morning, Jan. 3, in St. Mary Catholic church, with the Rev. A. Roder in charge.

Hilgenberg Bowls High 699 Series

Gets Games of 238, 245 And 216 in City League Match

Kaukauna — Jack Hilgenberg set a dizzy pace for bowlers in the City league Monday evening when he topped games of 238, 245, and 216, pins for a 699 total. Hilgenberg is a member of the Nitingale team. Ed Kalupa and Joseph Scherer followed in scoring. Kalupa scoring games of 238, 137, and 176 for a 551 total, while Scherer spilled 223, 161, and 169 pins for a 553 score. Other games of 200 or more were G. Starke, 224; H. Sager, 200; J. Conlon, 210; Joseph Krahm, 211; and Roy Johnson, 200.

Missing victory by six pins in the first game with the league leading U. S. Engineers, the Nitingales came back with huge totals to top the second and third games. Engineers' scores were 939, 904, and 878 pins, while the Nitingales scored 933, 1032, and 1,007 pins. Dropping the first game 873 to 929 pins Thilmany Bags scored totals of 915 and 924 to defeat the Bankers with scores of 893 and 984 to retain their hold on second place.

Bayorgons beat the Electricians 845 to 830 in the first game, lost the second 799 to 917, and copped the third 952 to 942 pins Service Laundries tipped the Kalupa Bakers in two out of three games scoring totals of 907, 824, and 909 pins to scores of 824, 916, and 836 pins.

Bowling will be resumed next Tuesday evening with the Engineers meeting Bayorgons and Service Laundries engaging Thilmany Bags at 7 o'clock. At 9 o'clock Electricians meet Nitingales and Bankers clash with Kalupa Bakers.

Scouts Complete Year's Activity

Christmas Party Winds Up Program for Troop No. 27

Kaukauna—Boy Scout Troop 27 completed its activity for this year at a meeting Monday evening in St. Mary's church basement. All scouts of the troop were present and a Christmas party was held, with H. H. Grieschar, scoutmaster, in charge. Games were played and prizes were won in the shoe relay by the Silver Fox patrol. Richard Van Denzen, Francis McMahon, Bud Heinz, and Leo Weigman are members of the patrol. Jerome Belonger won the donkey solo and Kenneth Vils and Clarence Elworth placed in the 20-yard race. Four patrol leaders will sell Sunday visitors at the midnight service at St. Mary Catholic church Saturday.

The scouts assembled around a lighted Christmas tree and Richard Danner gave out the presents brought by each scout. With the close of the year the following scouts are now registered with the troop: Melvin Henz, Richard Danner, senior patrol leaders; Silver Fox patrol, R. Van Denzen, Francis Heinz, Francis McMahon, James Weigman, and R. Perman; Flying Eagle patrol, H. Gerard, H. Valen, E. Belonger, E. Vils, R. Landreman and L. Weigman; Flaming Arrow, Loyal Belonger, C. Elworth, A. Hooyman, F. Hooyman, and H. Belonger; Pine Tree patrol, K. Kobussen, D. Hamby, B. Nagan, and M. Siebers.

Legion Won't Furnish Christmas Baskets

Kaukauna—Kaukauna's needy people will not receive Christmas baskets this year from the American Legion, it was decided at a meeting of Kaukauna Post No. 41 last night. It was pointed out that the Legion had but $216 to work with, and as this was not enough for baskets the money was turned into the general community fund, where it will be used for relief purposes the same as last year. The $216 represents the local post's share of the proceeds of the Appleton-Kaukauna high school football game staged here Nov. 11.

Because the money had been turned in to the general fund and there will be no distribution of baskets, the Legion asks residents of Kaukauna to bring what Christmas shares they can to their needy neighbors Louis Wilpolt is post commander.

Transients to Get Feed From Police

Kaukauna—Transients will be fed here by Kaukauna police, according to R. H. McCarthy, chief of police. Feeding of the transients was made possible by an appropriation of the county board, and residents are asked not to give the men food any longer.

BEWARE—HESSIAN FLY Washington — The Hessian fly, deadly enemy of wheat farmers, threatens to injure materially the 1933 wheat crop. Dr. Larrimer, of the Department of Agriculture, says that the secret of the Hessian fly control is to time the planting so that the young plants do not come up until the adult flies have left flax-seeds.

Final Rites for Andrew Anderson

Service Conducted Tuesday Morning at St. Mary's Church

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Andrew P. Anderson, 68, who died early Saturday morning at Appleton of complications resulting from an operation on Dec. 8, were held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Mary's Catholic church, with the Rev. A. Roder in charge. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery at Chilton.

Bearers were Fred Mayer, Nicholas Haupt, Joseph Gertz, W. O. Kittell, Ben Bell, and John Licht. Born in Denmark, Anderson farmed in Kenosha and Jackson, Minn., before entering the livery business at Chilton. In 1912, he came to Kaukauna and has been engaged in the livery and trucking business since. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church, Catholic Knights of Wisconsin, Catholic Order of Foresters, Court No. 118, and the Elks. He served as supervisor from the Fourth ward several years ago.

Survivors are the widow; one daughter, Mabel, Maroon, Ind.; two sons, George and Carl, Kaukauna; one brother, Louis, Jackson, Minn.; and one sister, Mrs. Christine Hendricksen, Denmark.

TO VISIT MILLS Dr. Otto Kress of the Lawrence college Institute of Paper Chemistry and Joseph Staid, Thilmany Paper mill official of Kaukauna have left on a two weeks' tour of the south. They will visit a number of paper mills.

She's waited so long for this gift

She doesn't complain. She doesn't tell you that the weekly cleaning is hard for even the strongest woman.

But—unless you are awfully blind—you can see how weary she is at the end of every cleaning day.

She would have had a Hoover long ago, we know, if you had realized how easy it is to give this matchless gift. Prices are down—monthly payments are extended—and Hoovers are more efficient than ever.

Three new models. Liberal allowance for old electric cleaners. Down payments now as low as

THEN—as Now!

IT WAS the wool in those days—woven into blankets—that gave the warmth — and the fact remains — only the method has changed. So it is with Kenwoods, they are all selected wool, woven by perfected machinery, preshrunk by a perfected process, napped with teasels, nature's invention, and "dyed in the wool," a perfection of the past.

Kenwoods serve unflinchingly against light or laundry. The colors hold and laundering adds to their beauty. The colors are many in single shades—others have one color on a side and another harmonizing color on the other. All have ribbon-bound ends and ample tuck-in size.

Then, as now—all wool.
